Malahat's First Snow Glistens in Dawn, Thaws in Sun

Malahat's first snow of season overnight made road surface treacherous, did not stay long enough to brighten logged-over ground north of Shawnigan cut-off. Public works crews had road sanded in short order. December last year was free of snow in Victoria, but 3.8 inches fell in January and February this year. None stayed long enough to be beautiful or useful. (Photo by Halkett.)

Eisenhower to Bare Atom Plan to U.N.

Speaks to Assembly At 1 p.m. Tomorrow

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP)—President Eisenhower flies to New York Tuesday to deliver a new Western challenge to Russia to join in working out a plan of disarmament and atomic control.

With the backing of Prime Minister Churchill and the French leaders here for the Big Three conference, Eisenhower, in a major address to the United Nations General Assembly, is expected to suggest a fresh approach to the international atomic problem which has been caught in a Soviet-Western deadlock for seven years.

The announced subject for the speech, to be made at 4 p.m. EST, (1 p.m. PST) is "perils that confront the world in this atomic age."

(The address will be carried on the CBC's Trans-Canada network from 1 p.m. to 1.45 p.m. Tuesday.)

The announcement Sunday night that Eisenhower would address the UN caused a sensation dominating the closing rounds of the meetings here with Churchill and French premier Joseph Laniel.

The development overshadowed the shift of the talks today to Far Eastern problems, including France's war in Indo-China and negotiations for a Korean peace conference, and continuing British-U.S. efforts to press the French for early approval of the rearmament of West Germany.

COMMUNIQUE EXPECTED

The Big Three talks were due to close today with a communique summing up their work.

Eisenhower will leave Tuesday, flying directly to New York's Idlewild airport. The ailing Laniel, still confined to bed with a lung infection, also will fly home Tuesday if he is able.

Churchill, the conference host, will leave for London late Wednesday.

Eisenhower and Churchill, along with U.S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault, at their sessions Sunday drafted a note to Russia, believed to contain acceptance of a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting in Berlin, possibly in early January.

The draft was sent to Bonn where West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer approved it today.

IRON-CLAD KOREA PEACE SOUGHT BY BIG THREE

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (UP)—President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and the Big-Three foreign ministers discussed means of getting an iron-clad Korean peace today.

Details of discussions at the two-hour and 20-minute meeting were withheld, but it was indicated that the Allied delegates sought to forestall any Communist trickery at the planned Korean peace conference on which negotiations are being conducted at Panmunjom.

Means of ending the eight-year war in Indo-China, and Far Eastern problems generally, also were discussed.

PREMIER LANIEL MUCH BETTER

Judge Lord Will Probe IWA Strike

The provincial government today appointed County Court Judge Arthur E. Lord, Vancouver, as a one-man "industrial inquiry commission" to inquire into the northern and southern interior lumbermen's strike.

The move came after four conferences between government, labor and management representatives failed to make any headway towards a settlement of the 6,000-man strike.

IWA members in the northern interior have been on strike 10 weeks, and in the south have been out about four weeks. Negotiations between the IWA and the Northern and Southern Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Associations are deadlocked.

Judge Lord will have power to inquire into all matters pertaining to the strike and make recommendations for its settlement to the government.

Gouzenko Quiz Arrangements May Be Under Way

OTTAWA (BUP) — It appeared possible today that if Igor Gouzenko agrees to be interviewed by American spy hunters his decision will not be announced until the quiz is completed.

There was no official word on Gouzenko's answer to the latest American request to talk to him. Justice Minister Stuart Garrson said he had no comment to make on the matter.

It seemed possible that if Gouzenko had agreed to be interviewed, government officials already were making the arrangements and were not planning to disclose them until it was all over.

56-Mile Wind Wrecks Duncan Power Lines

City Drenched by Rain, Gales; Packing House Flattened

A storm that drenched Victoria Saturday and Sunday with rain driven by 56-mile winds, reserved its main strength to give electrical power and telephone lines at Duncan their worst beating in years. And the Malahat had its first snow of the season.

A portion of the storm was funneled down the Cowichan River valley, where it uprooted trees that ripped and tangled transmission and telephone wires as they crashed.

Long-distance telephone service between Victoria and the north end of Vancouver Island went out at 12.25 p.m. Saturday, and only limited service had been restored today.

Main sources of trouble were breaks caused when gale force winds fell on wires on the Trans-Canada Highway, two miles south of Duncan. A falling tree on Lakes Road disrupted service to Maple Bay.

STREWN ACROSS ROADWAY

An old seed packing house owned by Major A. B. Mathews, at Westholme, was flattened completely by the gale-force wind and was strewn across the adjacent roadway.

Mill Bay and Shawnigan Lake areas were without power for four-and-one-half hours Saturday when a huge cedar crashed across a 60,000-volt electrical power line on the Malahat.

Local services were badly disrupted in Duncan Saturday and Sunday, and some homes were without telephone connections for 48 hours. F. A. Kinch, B.C. Telephone Co. manager, described the damage as "the worst in years."

The spearhead of the storm carried on southeastward to rip down transmission lines at the

Bennett Plans New York Visit

Premier Will Attempt to Interest U.S. Financiers in Development of Province

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, Finance Minister Einar Gunderson and Attorney-General Robert Bonner will go to New York next week to discuss investment of new capital in B.C. with U.S. financiers and industrialists.

The province's "big three" will visit the American city after meeting Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and the federal cabinet at Ottawa Dec. 14. They leave Victoria Tuesday.

"We will try to encourage further investment in our great province during our New York talks," said Premier Bennett.

He didn't say with whom the discussions will be held.

The premier described the Ottawa visit as "good-will trip aimed at bringing about closer relationship between the two governments."

Carl Goldenberg, QC, B.C.'s special economic counsel, will joint the delegation in the east.

Premier Bennett will present a prepared submission to the federal cabinet. It will be released in Victoria after presentation in Ottawa.

The premier declined to reveal contents of the submission.

But certain parts of it are already well-known because they have been discussed publicly at various times over the past 18 months.

Briefly, the government wants Ottawa to spend more money in B.C. in what has been termed by the premier a "public investment policy."

He wants Ottawa to share in the cost of major developments which will contribute to the economy of the province and the coffers of the federal government by increased tax returns.

TO TALK PGE

B.C. wants the senior government to share in the cost of extending the government-owned PGE into the rich Peace River country from Prince George, and completion of the line from Squamish to Vancouver.

B.C. will ask the federal government to pay 50% of the cost of building B.C.'s major highways.

These include the southern and northern trans-provincial highways, the Cariboo highway, the Okanagan highway and the Vancouver Island highway.

Premier Bennett has often stressed the importance of improved highway connections between B.C. and Alberta.

The premier also will ask the federal government for establishment of a B.C. coast guard, extension of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act and financial aid in forest protection.

Attorney-General Bonner will confer with Justice Minister Stuart Garson on Doukhobor problems. He has contended in the past Ottawa must take some responsibility for the problem. B.C. wants the senior government to assume part of the cost of taking care of the sect.

$200 CROSSWORD

Sask. Man Confesses Killing Tot

RADVILLE, Sask. (BUP) — Gerrard Joseph Cossette, 27, today surrendered himself to the RCMP here and confessed to the slaying of a six-year-old girl at Ogema, Sask.

Police said Cossette walked into the RCMP office and told the constable on duty that he "didn't know what came over him" to commit the crime.

Irene Mooney was killed late Saturday night and since then police conducted one of the biggest manhunts in Saskatchewan history.

The girl was followed into an Ogema restaurant, where she bought some ice cream. The man then followed her out and her battered body was found two hours later in a dark alley. She had been criminally assaulted and then strangled, according to police.

Cossette, who works with the Saskatchewan Power Corporation, here, has his home at Coderre, southwest of Moose Jaw, Sask. Police said he would probably be arraigned on a murder charge either here or at Ogema, and remained in custody.

The victim's body was taken to Regina Sunday for an autopsy. Pathologist Dr. W. S. Alexander said death was caused by strangulation and the child was criminally assaulted.

Irene was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Mooney of the Edgeworth District, 15 miles north of Ogema, but was visiting her grandparents when she was murdered. (See earlier story, page 5.)

Announcement On Gunderson Forthcoming

By GORDON FORBES
Times Legislative Reporter

The status of Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, defeated in the Victoria by-election, may be clarified in the next 24 hours.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, asked today if Mr. Gunderson will go to Ottawa with him as finance minister, replied:

"There may be an announcement regarding Mr. Gunderson before we leave Tuesday afternoon."

"Might he resign?" the premier was asked.

Premier Bennett declined to elaborate.

The Cabinet met this morning but no announcement regarding Mr. Gunderson had been made up to press time.

Speculation is that Mr. Gunderson will either:

Resign as finance minister and go to Ottawa Tuesday as a special economic advisor to the government, or remain in the finance portfolio and contest a by-election in the near future.

The Peace River riding has been mentioned as the seat most likely to be contested by Mr. Gunderson.

Mr. Gunderson's political future has been clouded since he was defeated by Liberal George F. Gregory in the Victoria by-election.

But his recent appointment to the newly-created toll bridge authority lent weight to the argument Mr. Gunderson intends to stay in politics.

$22,000 Loot In B.C. Credit Union Robbery

VANCOUVER (CP) — Safecrackers escaped with more than $22,000 when they burned their way into a vault at the office of the B.C. Credit Union League here.

A Credit Union spokesman said the loot included at least $13,738 belonging to five credit unions, and at least another $8,000 held for safekeeping during the week-end. A seventh union made a deposit with the central organization but there was no immediate estimate of the amount.

German Reds Warn France Against EDC

BERLIN (UP)—The Red East German parliament today warned the undecided French National Assembly, in a direct message, that ratification of the controversial European army plan might lead to an attack on France by a rearmed West Germany.

This bold Communist attempt to frighten France into rejecting the European Army Plan was made as reports from intelligence sources inside the Soviet zone told of a sweeping reorganization of the Communist East German police army into three groups.

The Communist parliament addressed its letter to Edouard Herriot, president of the French National Assembly, and forwarded it through the French high commissioner in Germany.

ADN, the Soviet operated East German news agency, said the letter, drafted on Saturday, called on French deputies to "reject the so-called European Army Treaty" and warned that West German militarists were "vengefully" planning a new aggression against France.

ABOARD SS GOTHIC (CP) —The light-hearted ceremonies of crossing the Equator and an open-air church service were the week-end highlights as the Royal liner Gothic bore the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh toward the Fiji Islands on their round-the-world tour.

The Sunday morning church service was held under an awning on the forward games deck with the Royal party in attendance. The master of the Gothic, Capt. David Aitchison, conducted the service and Vice-Admiral E. M. C. Abel Smith, flag officer, Royal yachts, read the lesson.

KIRK DOUGLAS LEADING CONTENDER

Dempsey Takes Long Count As Estelle KOs Romance

NEW YORK (UP)—Mrs. Estelle Auguste, a wealthy widow, broke her engagement to former heavyweight boxing champion Jack Dempsey today and flew to Palm Beach, Fla., to await a rendezvous with film actor Kirk Douglas.

Mrs. Auguste admitted a quarrel over Douglas caused her to split with Dempsey, to whom she became engaged less than a week ago. She said the former boxer became indignant Sunday night when she informed him she intended to invite Douglas to their wedding, scheduled for later this month in Florida.

"He resented it very much," said the stylish blonde widow. "That's when I discovered we have a different point of view on different things."

Later Dempsey left her apartment "in a huff" and she decided to cancel the wedding plans and fly to her Florida home alone today. She said she had not told Dempsey of her decision.

Dempsey could not be reached for comment at his suite in the Hotel Mayflower.

However, after word of Mrs. Auguste's announcement was given to Max Waxman, Dempsey's business manager, Waxman said:

"The only statement we can make is this: If the lady says the wedding is off, it's off."

Mrs. Auguste, widow of a banker who died four years ago and was reported to have left her with a $35,000,000 fortune, said she felt her marriage to Dempsey would not be "harmonious."

Fear of School Fire Rouses PTA Official

'Selfish Outlook' on New Building Scored by Mother of Six Students

Even some of the new schools being built in Victoria are "fire-traps," Mrs. Antge Horn, vice-president of the Central Junior High School Parent-Teachers' Association charged today.

MRS. HORNE . . . concerned.

"Corridors in the new Central Junior High will have wooden floors. Hallways are where children congregate. This is a fire menace," she said.

The PTA official said: "If a school is planned, why it is not made as fireproof as possible?"

Of the present Central Junior High School she said: "It is a firetrap of the worst order. I pray nothing happens there. It would be terrible."

Mrs. Horn, who is also a member of Sir James Douglas PTA, has six boys ranging in age from six to 16. She and her family arrived here from Barrin, Holland, 18 months ago.

"I was a ratepayer in Holland," she said, "but there we never vote on whether we want more schools or not. When schools are needed, they are built. Nobody votes on them."

One of the drawbacks here, she said, was that many ratepayers had no children, or had children who no longer attended school. "Those with children, who want the best in schools and school safety, are pushed aside."

SELFISH OUTLOOK

She strongly scored ratepayers who had what she termed "a selfish outlook on this . . . money, money, money . . . that's their God."

People in this country, she said, work not so much for the benefit of their children, but for "new fur coats and television sets, and other things money will buy." This lack of family approach to living, she continued, resulted in a general lack of interest in children.

As instances of this she said that attendance at PTA meetings was "very poor, especially the junior high school PTA." At an age when children most needed parental support "they are being let down," she said.

"Building of schools," said Mrs. Horn, "is no luxury. The future of Canada depends on it."

The measure, passed at the last session of Parliament, brings to 130,000 the number of federal employees who may take part in the pension scheme.

However, Prof. Anderson predicted that greater application of labor saving devices would probably result in a decrease in the province's agricultural labor force in the same period.

Toronto Girl Kidnapped By Masked Man

Boy Friend Slugged On Lonely Sideroad

TORONTO (CP)—A province-wide search began today for a 17-year-old girl and a man reported to have kidnapped her.

Police of suburban Scarborough township said they were told that Marion Joan MacDowell was taken at gunpoint from her boy friend's car on a lonely sideroad Sunday night by a masked man. The boy friend, James Wilson, 19, said he was slugged by what he thought was a gun butt.

Wilson was treated later in hospital for head injuries. Police said they have no reason to doubt his story.

Officers said Wilson was forced to hand over his wallet, containing about $10.

When he recovered consciousness, he said, he was in the back of the car with the girl bundled in on top of him. Wilson said the man who slugged him drove the car to another east-end laneway.

The bandit stopped the car, went through the girl's pockets, then took her out of the car and placed her in the trunk of another car. He then drove away while the youth, dazed and helpless, was unable to offer any resistance.

IN THE COMMONS

Housing Bill Expected Before House Adjourns

OTTAWA (BUP) — Members of parliament, assured of 16 shopping days until Christmas, were almost as certain today of nine sitting days until adjournment.

The MP's were expected to pack up the pre-Christmas session Dec. 17. But that still left them time to make a noticeable start in handling the government's 1953-54 legislative program.

Bills proposed by members not in the cabinet were due for consideration today — "private members' day." But it was not known which of the parliamentarians would be ready to speak in support of the moves they proposed.

One of the government measures expected to appear on the Commons order paper before adjournment would revise the National Housing Act to clear the way for bank loans for home building.

The amendments would complement changes in the Bank Act proposed by the government to permit chartered banks to lend money on housing mortgages.

Home-Builder of City's Early Days, Frank Henry Wills Dies Here, Aged 89

Frank Henry Wills, last of Victoria's early home builders and a man who participated in many of the events which provided this city with its colorful history, died Sunday in St. Joseph's Hospital. He was 89.

Born in Paignton, Devonshire, Aug 2, 1864, he came to Canada as a youth and spent five years in Toronto. He returned to England for two years, and then set out for British Columbia. He arrived in Vancouver in 1887, just after that city's devastating fire, came on to Victoria.

Trained as a builder, he soon was set up in the contracting business. Homes he constructed in those early years still stand throughout the city.

In 1890, a girl he had known in England and with whom he had kept in touch by correspondence, came out to join him. They were married at Vancouver's Christ Church Cathedral, and celebrated their golden anniversary May 19, 1940. Mrs. Wills died April 26, 1946.

LAID FIRST CONCRETE

Although primarily a home-builder, Mr. Wills figured in many types of construction. In the days when Victoria had wooden sidewalks and muddy streets, he installed the first concrete crossing at Douglas and Fort.

He was closely connected at various times with the shipbuilding industry. He worked at the Esquimalt naval base when it was under Royal Navy control, and in 1898 refitted the Ning Chow, a vessel brought from the Far East to carry prospectors to the gold strike in the Klondike.

THE LATE FRANK WILLS

Mr. Wills installed bunks for 500 miners and sailed aboard the ship when it made its first run to Skagway.

WARTIME SHIPBUILDER

During the First World War, he was superintendent at the Foundation Shipyard, located on the industrial reserve, which turned out 20 ships for the government of France.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wills were devoted church people. They were members of the old Pandora Methodist Church in the early days, and belonged to Metropolitan United Church from the time of its opening.

Mr. Wills enjoyed singing and was a member of the Metropolitan choir until about five years ago. He has been in the tenor section of nearly every oratorio presented here until about 10 years ago.

FUNERAL FRIDAY

Funeral services will be held Friday at 1.30 at McCall Bros.' Funeral Home with Dr. F. E. H. James officiating. Interment will be at the family plot, Royal Oak Burial Park.

Mr. Wills is survived by two sons, Archie Wills, 1231 Fairfield Road; Rev. Percy E. Wills, missionary of the Shantymen's Christian Association, 1092 Cloverdale; two daughters, Mrs. E. C. Wilderspin, 92 Wellington Avenue, and Miss Amy Wills, at the family home, 983 Southgate; five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Makes Like a Hollywood Starlet

U.S. Tornado Takes At Least 30 Lives

Rescue Gangs Work in Freezing Weather In Grisly Hunt for Addtional Victims

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP)—Rescue gangs worked in freezing weather today in a grisly hunt for additional victims on Saturday's vicious tornado that took at least 30 lives.

The temperature dropped to 31 degrees in the heatless city and frost covered lawns and other open ground in outlying areas.

National guardsmen on guard duty built fires from the debris that littered the streets.

The two latest victims died in hospitals today and authorities said at least eight other persons remain on the critical list.

Dawn brought the noise of steam shovels, bulldozers and shovels after a heatless, shivering night for the 28,000 residents.

The most serious cases among the 230 injured were crowded into Vicksburg's four main hospitals, warmed by blankets and electric heaters from the city's homes.

Civil defense and military leaders estimated the damage at $25,000,000.

DISASTER AREA

President Eisenhower declared the city a disaster area Sunday night authorizing emergency funds to help rebuild 12 blocks of stores, homes and warehouses.

One-fifth of the city was without electricity. All of the city was without natural gas, the only heating and cooking fuel for most homes. The temperature dropped to 44 in the city and was near the freezing point in the suburbs.

Double Trouble Comes To Vancouver Visitor

VANCOUVER (CP)—Trouble came double for Herbert Buchanan, a visitor to Vancouver.

Buchanan was found by police lying on the street. He said he had been assaulted and robbed of $116.

While en route to hospital for treatment of an eye injury, Buchanan was struck by a car and suffered injuries to the neck.

Victoria Catholics Mark Marian Year

Victorians among the Roman Catholic millions throughout the world today observe the beginning of the Marian year—honoring Mary, the mother of Jesus, upon the 100th anniversary of the papal proclamation of her immaculate conception.

At 11.30 p.m. services here, and in cities, towns and hamlets wherever the Church of Rome reigns, a year-long crusade of prayer and pilgrimage commences tonight. In this year the Pope has called for special honor for Mary, and for her aid in meeting the problems of the modern world.

One of the principal objectives of this universal Catholic prayer is peace.

The Holy Hour begins here at 11.30 p.m. There will be a Solemn Mass at 12.30 in St. Andrew's Cathedral, with Bishop Hill enthroned.

Tuesday there will be four Masses sung, at 6.15, 7, 8, 9, and at 12.15 noon on Wednesday.

Pilgrimages will be made this Marian year to all the noted shrines of the Virgin. Joining thousands of children, the Pope Tuesday will bring flowers to the high-columned statue of Mary in Rome's Spanish

ONE SITS, ANOTHER FROLICS

Churchill Forgets Toothbrush; Soldiers Take Dim View of Eden

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (BUP)—Sir Winston Churchill's valet forgot to bring the prime minister's tooth brush to the Big Three meeting here.

When Churchill unpacked he discovered the tooth brush was missing and dispatched a courier to the Castle Harbor drug store to buy a spare.

The Churchill emissary bought a tooth brush with no difficulty, but three times he was turned back by Welch Ocean Club where the Big Three principals are living.

On the third try the courier got by the sentries, explaining: "If the prime minister doesn't get his tooth brush I don't know what might happen."

★ ★ ★

Photographers are completely amazed over Churchill's sunny attitude of co-operation.

Sir Winston co-operated like a Hollywood starlet when the cameramen yelled at him to gesture with his right hand. Winnie delighted everyone by forking up his famous "V" signal and puffed colorfully on a large cigar.

The prime minister obviously has marvellous recuperative powers, even at the age of 79. When he arrived here he was leaning heavily on his gold-headed cane but after a good night's sleep Churchill seemed to slough off his advancing years and took on a completely new bouncy personality.

Before the Big Three got down to actual cases Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden drove down to the beach in front of the Mid-Ocean Club. Churchill plumped his ample bulk into a canvas-backed beach chair while Eden went swimming.

While the foreign minister frolicked in the surf Churchill decided that he was tired of the beach, summoned his limousine and went back to his quarters at the club.

Eden then emerged from the surf to find himself confronted by stern young soldiers of the Royal Welch Fusiliers, who demanded to see his credentials. The handsome foreign minister had nothing more for a pass than his red woolen trunks, and the fusiliers took a decidedly dim view of this interloper from the sea until a member of the prime minister's party raced down to the seashore and identified Eden.

LADY CHURCHILL TO ACCEPT NOBEL PRIZE FOR WINNIE

U.K. Envoy's Talk Said Big Influence

LONDON (BUP) — Lord Beaverbrook's Sunday Express claimed today that Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov's unexpected talks with the British ambassador to Moscow has been one of the most important factors influencing the Western Big Three acceptance of a four-power conference.

The newspaper printed an alleged summary of what Malenkov told Ambassador Sir William Hayter in their talks last week.

The Express said Malenkov told Hayter that Russia was a European country with European interests as was Britain. He added that no outside country has a decisive influence upon Russian foreign policy.

"Malenkov was apparently hinting that Russia and Britain had more in common that Britain and America," the newspaper said.

Hayter then told Malenkov, according to the Express, that Britain has friendly relations with other countries which she intended to preserve at all costs.

India, West Plan UN Recess Later in Week

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — India and the Western powers agreed today on a plan for an indefinite recess of the UN General Assembly later this week without a debate on the Korean peace conference.

Under the compromise plan, worked out during the weekend, the president, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit of India, will be authorized to reconvene the assembly, with the concurrance of a majority of the 60 members, if she feels Korean developments warrant action.

Mr. Bennett's Friends

IT IS MORE THAN A COINCIDence when the only member of the Canadian Parliament to defend the views of Senator McCarthy is Mr. Blackmore, one of the leading figures in the Social Credit party. When Mr. Blackmore rose in the Commons the other day to apologize for Senator McCarthy he was received with derisive laughter by the House at large. Senator McCarthy has no friends in Parliament outside the little Social Credit splinter.

But at least Mr. Blackmore and his colleagues are consistent. Like Senator McCarthy, they are afflicted with a deep and undying xenophobia, a distrust of all foreigners and of internationalism in general. They are the only real isolationists in Canadian politics. They are horror-stricken by what they believe is the loss of Canada's "sovereignty" in the United Nations and in other international organizations.

Referring, for example, to the international monetary and banking agreements now in effect, Mr. Solon Low, the Social Credit party leader, once wrote that "our national leaders must be completely asleep or must be psychopathic cases to even contemplate getting involved in such organizations."

The views of Mr. E. G. Hansell, Social Credit member of Parliament for Macleod, and the chief organizer of the party in British Columbia, are still more interesting. They were read into Hansard on February 18, 1953, by Mr. Rene Jutras, MP for Provencher. He quoted an article written by Mr. Hansell, who said among other things:

"The fact of the matter is that the United Nations is largely a Socialist-Communist organization. . . It is applauded by the internationalists, most of whom are Socialists. It was conceived and brought into existence by those who visualized a world government and whose desire, in the process, was to bury national sovereignty."

The organizers of the United Nations, according to Mr. Hansell, felt that "it would be necessary to solidify the already centralized international power of finance and this would have to be made to synchronize if possible with the proposed United Nations Organizations."

Mr. Hansell went on to say that "a key figure in shaping this centralized and powerful world financial machinery was none other than Alger Hiss, since convicted by the Supreme Court of the United States as a Communist agent. Is it conceivable that such a brain, whose first loyalty was to Moscow, would advise such machinery (the international monetary organizations) as would be contrary to the wishes of the Kremlin?"

Again: "The same traitor Alger Hiss was also executive secretary of the San Francisco conference and one of the brains behind the Charter, which moderately advocates a world police force which would whip into line such nations who dared to refuse to toe the line, which line would be determined by the world government boys."

Mr. Hansell speaks of those who organized the international monetary agreements as "the world socio-commie planners" and he goes on to list "some of Hiss's advisers," all of them distinguished world figures with Jewish names. As Mr. Jutras said of Mr. Hansell's statement, "it is obvious that the writer has indulged in a little indirect anti-semitism." That, of course, is only one instance of many, as Mr. Coldwell has proved on the public record.

In other words, Mr. Hansell seems to think that the United Nations and its subsidiary organizations represent a secret conspiracy by international finance, by communism and by Jewry — strange partners. And one of the proofs of this fact is the person of Hiss, who was only a secretary at the San Francisco conference and whose treachery had yet to be discovered.

Mr. Blackmore's defence of Senator McCarthy is merely the latest echo of the Social Credit party's original views, a reflection of its deepest instincts, its suspicion of foreigners and of internationalism.

These are Mr. Bennett's friends in Ottawa. They are the real leaders of the campaign to make Social Credit, with all its theories of finance and international policies, the Government of Canada. Only a few weeks ago, Mr. Bennett publicly embraced Mr. Low and enlisted in the national campaign. Why should he be surprised when the electors of Victoria refuse to have anything to do with it? The Victoria by-election was important nationally not because it defeated Mr. Gunderson but because it repudiated the whole isolationist, reactionary and obscurantist doctrines of Social Credit.

The Job of the Navy

REAR-ADMIRAL HIBBARD serves Canada well when he reminds us—as he did the other day before the local Chamber of Commerce—of the magnitude of the job facing this country's Navy.

As he sees it, three major tasks confront us: maintenance of existing sea-lanes, since Canada is the world's third trading nation; the resurrection of our fast-dwindling merchant service; the building up of a fighting force equipped to deal with Russia's fleet-in-being of 350 submarines, many of them of the fast new Schnorkel type. "The oceans," Admiral Hibbard reminds us, "serve only those who have the strength to use and hold them."

Canada's Navy is pointing to an establishment of 100 fighting ships and about 25,000 men. Recruiting thus far has not been wholly satisfactory. Part of the answer lies in the fact that the Navy of 1953 requires a different type of man than the Navy of the First World War. What we are called upon to face today is an electronic war. This means that personnel must be highly-trained technicians as well as good seamen—men who combine a love of science with a love for the sea.

In paying tribute to the Merchant Navy, Admiral Hibbard speaks from first-hand experience. He was senior officer of the escort group which carried on a running, 66-hour fight with the first "wolf pack," and saw 17 Allied ships go down with their vital cargo. It is a sobering fact that, of 5,500 Allied ships sunk, 70 per cent were accounted for by submarines.

We need to be told these things. And it is a good sign when a ranking officer of the RCN comes in from Esquimalt to report to the community on the progress of his work. Although he has been in his present post only since last March, Admiral Hibbard has proved himself a community-minded citizen who recognizes the value of close rapport between the Navy and the city.

Of Human Bondage

THE RECENT ARRIVAL IN Japan of several hundred prisoners of the Second World War, who had spent the subsequent years of peace as slave laborers in Siberia, lends point to the current United Nations' concern over Soviet delay in repatriating such captives.

Japan, West Germany and Italy together assert that 400,000 men captured during the war have never been accounted for by the Russians. Enquiries have been met with a blank denial of any knowledge of the captives. But the rare escapees, and the occasional handful of repatriates, bring word of other prisoners still in Soviet hands. There can be little doubt that many thousands of former soldiers are herded in labor camps today, slaving for their captors.

Former U.S. State Secretary James F. Byrnes, who is now governor of South Carolina and a member of the U.S. delegation to the U.N., officially charges that the Russians have broken The Hague and Geneva conventions. He suggested last Monday that Russia could furnish no better proof of a desire to alleviate world tension than by cleaning the slate for the prisoners of war and returning them all to their homes.

It is perhaps not surprising that a feudal-type state such as the communists have established in Russia should revert to feudal methods of retaining war prisoners in slavery. Where the individual has no standing as a citizen, being merely a cog in the state machine, prisoners are even less likely to be accorded the rights of human beings.

This system of slavery, extending many years beyond the termination of the conflict, together with the atrocities which have become a calculated part of the communist method of conducting war against nations and individuals, has brought a new savagery to modern warfare, or, more correctly, restored an old savagery. It provides a poor basis on which to fashion an East-West settlement or to plan a lasting peace.

BY DAVID BROCK

IT IS some time till Christmas yet, whatever the shops and the topical writers would have you believe. Not to mention the carollers and the radio stations. But already the cutters of Christmas trees are hard at work. As you might say, the woods are full of them. The woods are also full of their wreckage. Big trees cut down so that the householder can remove the top few feet. Little trees thrown away in favor of a second choice . . . or of a fifth or sixth choice. Lopped-off branches. Broken-down patches of salal and Oregon grape . . . these last will soon repair themselves, but at the moment they look discouraged.

Brock

ONE of the oddest things about these tree-rustlers is that they never dream the land and trees belong to somebody. Or if they do have a dim notion of property, they feel the owner would never grudge a tree or two to the poor. (The thief may be financially rich enough, but he is poor in spirit, isn't he?)

I knew a family right bang in the middle of Vancouver who owned several hundred feet of magnificent holly hedge. Every year along about this time it would be stripped by strangers. Complete strangers, for their strangeness was very complete. If the owners caught one of the thieves, which happened quite often, the thief would patiently explain he was taking sprigs from the outside of the hedge only . . . the street side, the public side.

I FREELY admit that I go off to the woods myself each December. And bring the kids, and have a good time . . . we make a stirring little event out of it. But we try to pick a lonely spot. Not only to keep from getting caught, but to confine our tiny destruction to a place where Nature will repair it long before anyone else goes there. We manage this by climbing some formidable bluffs. And on a wet or snowy day it becomes a very sporting event indeed, getting up and down those rocks. At the top of the bluffs we leave things almost as we found them. At the foot, where anyone can go and where almost everyone does, there is nothing but a desolation of slash.

THIS year I have composed a tree-cutter's carol, to be sung as we drive home. In the old days, before we had children, and a little after that before the children became mobile, my wife and I made our Christmas logging expedition—our timber-cruising . . . into even more of a ritualistic event by bringing a small flask of sherry with us. Or anything else that was harmless but warming and festive.

However, the children have learnt at school that anyone who takes a drink is a criminal, a fiend, a lunatic, a wastrel, a scoundrel, and a most unnatural parent. (I am scarcely exaggerating. I wish I were.)

So now the long trip home is warmed by bursts of song, and not by dat ole debbil Rum. Though just what the children mean by "Wassail, wassail all over the town" is hard to imagine, what with their views on wassailing. No doubt they are referring to mulled coke, or spiced cocoa.

I HAVE no title for my tree-cutter's carol yet. Perhaps it should be "The Wearing-down of the Green." Or "The Outwearing of the Green." Anyhow, it starts like this:

With cries of "Timber!" and "Heads below!"
Into the scented woods we go.
One day a year is given at least
To live the life of a timberbeast.
(Chorus)
Noel, Noel, Noel, Noel,
For personal use or else to sell
We thin the forest and do it good.
St. Nicholas bless this holy wood.

There is lots more of it. But I am saving most of it to use on my Christmas card this year, and if I print the whole card in Chips before mailing it privately to my friends, my friends may regard that as a form of cheating. So I'll sing you the complete song a year from now . . . if I remember it by then.

INCIDENTALLY, the second line of the carol is pinched from Mary Webb, I think. Anyhow, it is pinched from somebody, who went into the scented woods, though not for Christmas trees. It was to see the blackthorn swim in snow, which means its April blossoms. (Why the devil don't we plant blackthorn everywhere on Vancouver Island? It is one of the most exciting things in all of spring.) If T. S. Eliot incorporates other men's lines in his poetry, that is called a wealth of allusion. But if other men do it, lesser men, it looks more like parasitism. Unless you use footnotes to explain before you're caught. I remember one of Belloc's footnotes about his use of the line "I like the sound of breaking glass." The note said:

A line I stole with subtle daring
From Wing Commander Maurice Baring.

A FAIR OFFER

ONE of the local schools was having a "paper drive". . . that is to say, collecting scrap paper to be sold to raise funds for the playground, etc. Our local librarian tells me that a small child, about Grade I, came in and asked her for her used books. "Used?" she said. "They are used daily, I hope. We are not throwing any out just now, if that's what you mean." The boy said this was a pity, since the school could get $7 a ton for the contents of the library. The librarian said that for some of the muck it would be a fair price.

EINAR'S MUSIC LESSON

Einar: Who was Beethoven?

Teacher: He wrote the music for tonight's concert.

Einar: Ah, the tax free music. Our government is very enlightened. We don't tax symphony concerts.

Teacher: Einar, do you know anything about Haydn?

Einar: Haydn? Hidin' what? Our government never hides anything.

Teacher: Only its ignorance. Haydn, Einar, was Beethoven's teacher: he was the Father of the tax-free symphony. And after writing 104 tax-free symphonies, he began to write oratorios. Do you know what an oratorio is, Einar?

Einar: Well, I'm a bit of an orator myself. . .

Teacher: Oratorio is religious music.

Einar: Oh yes! Religion, we never tax religion; we're all very religious people, we Social Crediters, and we support the tax-free symphony.

Teacher: Fine! Then if I explain that an oratorio is religious (and therefore tax-free) music written for a full symphony orchestra (tax free, you will remember) and that over 100 of your fellow citizens, all musical and mostly religious, take part in singing Haydn's oratorio "The Creation," on the same platform as the tax-free symphony orchestra, you will pardon our not understanding why your government should call it amusement and charge 5 per cent tax on it.

Einar: I agree it's stupid. I'm giving it up, and learning music instead.

GOD-FEARING MUSICIAN.

THE PILTDOWN MAN!

Sir J. W. Dawson of McGill University said concerning the evolution theory that "it may be regarded as perhaps the best explanation of life that is possible if we believe that there is no God! But the fact of existence, the existence of life, of mind, and matter postulates the need of a Creator! In the early chapters of Genesis we find the record of a perfect creation, followed by the curse." (Genesis 1:1-2.)

All life is from life and each species brings forth "after his kind." There is not a single example known of life arising from inanimate matter, nor is there definite and conclusive evidence of one species changing into another. They reproduce only after their kind; otherwise they could not be classified as species. The only alternative, that of creation, is rejected because this would imply the idea of Divine intervention and any such belief would be unacceptable to the natural mind. "The natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him (for only the fool hath said in his heart: There is no God! Psalm 14:1); neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned." (I Cor. 2:14.)

It is certainly no more credulous to conceive of the universe coming into existence as a result of supernatural intervention than as a result of inanimate forces.

Professor Post of Syria asked Mr. Etheridge of London to show him, in the British Museum of Natural History some proofs of Darwin's evolution theory. The great expert answered him. "In all this great museum there is not a particle of evidence of transmutation of species. The museum is full of proofs of the utter falsity of such views."

God and His infallible Word remain true: "Let us make man in our own image—so God created man in His own image, in the image of God created He him." No! Man did not ascend from monkeys; he did descend from God! The "missing links," if existing, should be found by the millions. They are conspicuous by their total absence!

DOUBTFUL ORIGINS

Mr. Stott's friends may be quite correct in telling him that the origin of the saying that the Battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton is seomewhat doubtful, that it may be one of those famous quotations that were never said. I do not know. Even Kipling's famous poem, "The sands of the desert were crimsoned red, red with the wreck of a square that broke," may be historically inaccurate.

A friend of mine, a British army veteran, told me that many years ago he was one of a party of British veterans spending a social evening in an English pub. One of them was entertaining the company with a recitation of Kipling's poem and had just got as far as "red with the wreck of a square that broke" when a big fist smote the table and a voice with a strong Scottish accent said "The square didna break, it was the auld Forty twa and I was there."

After a brief silence someone enquired: "Well, Mac, if the square didna break, what did happen?"

"What happened," replied Mac, "was that a corner was a wee bit late in closing but the square didna break."

PRAIRIE VISITOR.

(Ed. note—The quotation "The sand of the desert is sodden red, etc.," is usually attributed to Sir Henry Newbolt's poem, "Vitai Lampada.")

NO CONFLICT

This matter of the Piltdown Man has been well treated by the Times, but as letters from Mr. Enke and Mr. Pepper have been written about my letter on this subject I would ask permission to reply.

Mr. Pepper sees some conflict in the Creation record between Genesis Chapters 1 and 2. Bearing in mind that in the original Scriptures there were no divisions into chapters and verses, Chapter I relates the story of the Creation in six days, which story continues on and is completed in Chapter 2, also giving a description of the newly-created earth, repeating how man was formed and how he received his companion. There is no conflict here.

Again Mr. Pepper asks how we can account for the existence of immense stores of coal and oil buried deep in the earth. The answer for this is in Genesis Chapters 7 and 8, when the earth was destroyed by the waters of the Flood and under the mighty pressures of wind and water, and internal forces beneath the earth, immense changes took place in the earth's geological structure. At that time great forests and vegetation and animal remains were buried deep in the earth and became the sources of our coal and oil.

Mr. Pepper quotes a statement by the Pope that the universe was at least five billions of years old and he fails to take into account that the age of the universe is a far different matter to the age of the earth.

Well, the good old Bible opens with the account of the creation of this earth by God and closes in Revelation 14:7 with His last message of warning and entreaty to "Worship Him that made heaven and earth and the sea and fountains of waters." How timely this is!

OR WHERE ARE YOU?

In the Times of Dec. 3, Mr. Luff says that the CCF fail to tell us that the source of all our trouble is the private ownership of the means of production! Yet a few sentences later, he says: The CCF offer public ownership as a solution!

This would seem to indicate that the CCF is opposed to aforesaid private ownership of the means of production, would it not? As to state capitalism existing in Russia, and the CCF having a similar aim, it is doubtful if the term is correct as to Russia. There seems to be a ruling clique there, such as was never yet seen, and managerial rule might be a better term.

But anyway, Mr. Luff is mixed up, as in one breath he has the CCF on the Russian path to tyranny, yet finally concludes they are but left wing Liberals! So there you are, where are you?

Raleigh's Trial and the Witch Cases

WILLIAM O. Douglas, Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, has used excerpts from Sir Walter Raleigh's 17th century treason trial and the Massachusetts Colony witchcraft cases to bring home an important point to his fellow Americans.

In his address to the American Law Institute he described the plight of Raleigh, fighting for his life and denied the common prerogatives of the accused.

"Call my accusers before my face," he quotes the distinguished Elizabethan, and cites the reply of Lord Chief Justice Popham: "This thing cannot be granted, for then a number of Treasons should flourish."

Mr. Justice Douglas recalls incidents of the Massachusetts witch trials and then comments:

"We have today no exact parallel of the treason trial of Raleigh, no exact counterpart of the witch trials of the Massachusetts Colony. But we have trials and investigations which perpetuate some of the evils of Raleigh's trial and of the witch trials. We have practices and procedures that impinge heavily on the liberties of the citizens. We deprive men of jobs and destroy their reputations with practices as callous as those involved in the trial of Sir Walter Raleigh.

"What greater inroad on liberty can there be than an official condemnation of a man without due process? There are three aspects of this problem:

"First. During the 14 years I have sat on the Supreme Court I have seen many records of criminal trials. During that time it has seemed to me that the quality of prosecutors has markedly declined.

"I speak only in terms of the average, realizing full well that many prosecutors have adhered faithfully to our finest traditions. But in some cases it seemed that the prosecutors were resorting to modern witchcraft, confusing the 'internal and external aspects of the Communist threat'—to use the recent words of Ambassador George F. Kennan—in an effort to get the spectre into the jury room.

"Sometimes they almost seemed to emulate the example of Coke (the prosecutor) in Raleigh's trial. Sometimes they treated the courtroom not as a place of dignity, detached from the community, but as a place to unleash the fury of public passion. And in that project the press has played a part. It has pumped into the jury room hearsay, confessions, theories, and influence which if done in the courtroom would result in mistrials.

"Yet district judges, I know, feel that the effect on the end product of the proceedings was probably as fatal as if they themselves had sanctioned the barrage of propaganda and allowed it to infect the trials.

"Second. We have built in the country a vast network of wiretappers and eavesdroppers. In New York City alone there were in 1952 at least 58,000 permits issued to tap wires, a practice which in sturdier days a great Olympian, Mr. Justice Holmes, condemned as 'dirty business.' By 1949 the New York Times reported that so many wires were being tapped that officials hardly dared speak a confidence over the telephone.

"Third. We allow important charges to be proved against person in administrative proceedings on the testimony of witnesses whose identity and, therefore, whose prejudices are never known to the government or to the accused. Some of these cases involve proceedings against persons deemed 'subversive' or poor security risks and therefore not eligible for employment with the government. Others implicate outsiders who must face the rigors of administrative hearings in order to have their rights or status determined. These too are denied knowledge of the identity of the persons who accuse them."

MARKED for READING

WRITERS AND CRITICS

Everybody understands that poems and stories are written by memory and desire, love and hatred, daydreams and nightmares—by a being, not a brain. But they are read just so, judged just so; and some great lack in human qualities is as fatal to the critic as it is to the novelist. There have been many very intelligent people, but few good critics—far fewer than there have been good artists, as any history of the art will tell you. "Principles" or "standards" of excellence are either specifically harmful or generally useless; the critic has nothing to go by except his experience as a human being and a reader, and is the personification of empiricism.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Who Swiped My Horror Comic?

IT'S an interesting commentary on society when one of the prerogatives of maturity is the right to buy and read horror "comics." Such material is too strong for the youngsters. They must wait until they have grown up to absorb the pictorial tales of viciousness and depravity badly phrased in inferior panel reproduction.

Stott

Some people will wonder how mature are the adults who buy such stuff. If it's injurious to the juvenile mind, what protection is given to the person 21 or over who is still young enough to read it?

And what happens to this adult reading material once it has been purchased and brought into the home?

I suppose thinking parents have been concerned over the accessibility of certain books to their youngsters ever since society reached a decision on propriety. The wiser adults may not have established prohibitions, but they didn't leave certain volumes lying around where the kids would pick them up and develop precocious interest in particular subjects.

Twenty or thirty years ago it was the practice in most homes to put the French classics behind the front row of books on the home library's top shelf. There would come a time, parents thought, when the children should read them in the normal course of rounding out a taste for literature. But it might be just as well if that time weren't hurried.

TASTE OF THE FORBIDDEN

That wasn't a prohibition, but it made the books a little harder to get. What happened? The kids slipped the volumes from their hiding places furtively. Occasionally they'd smuggle them into the schoolyard, where certain passages would set the other juveniles snickering.

That's normal enough. Once a kid is told he's too young to do this or that, it becomes a matter of principle with him to try to do it. The effort makes him feel a little more grown-up—which seems important.

Still, if a previous generation of adults achieved the opposite effect to what they planned by hiding the French classics and certain other works—piquing the interest of children by making the volumes hard to get—the practice had its values.

A lot of youngsters turned to Guy de Maupassant, Voltaire, Balzac, Anatole France and other masters and found through them some appreciation for writing. They may have looked for the lusty and ribald stories in Chaucer, but they exposed themselves, in the process, to some of the purest lyricism in English verse. Their shoes may have been soiled by the organic fertilizer around the roots, but they at least saw the rose.

So what happens now with this "literature" which is not quite the thing for children? Do parents bring it home, read it avidly when they've chased the youngsters to bed and then secrete it behind the row of books on the library's top shelf? If they do, that should add a little spice to the juvenile's quest for the forbidden.

NEW PUNCH IN PUNCH

Or do they follow the policy used in a certain military mess here several years ago when La Vie Parisienne was carefully placed inside a copy of Punch and wore that innocuous jacket when ladies dropped in for visits? There was a certain subtlety to that technique. One of the effective ways of making an article inconspicuous is to hide it under the public's nose.

Even when the deceit was uncovered, it was obvious that La Vie gave to Punch something that Punch didn't have, and vice versa.

I don't know what means will be followed to keep the kids from horror "comics" or how effective they'll be. What does trouble me, though, is what ought to be done about the adults who read them. I keep wondering what makes them adult.

FROM SAIGON, INDO-CHINA

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Fighting on a Shoestring

IN THIS war in Indo-China, with all its incalculable meaning for the future, it is too easy to forget the tricky balance of the current fighting. The eye wanders from the battle, as it were, to the points of future danger that are so many and so near at hand. Total disaster can rapidly be caused here, either by a loss of will in France or by several different kinds of increasing Chinese Communist participation.

Joseph

Since "everything depends on Indo-China," as Vice-President Nixon has said, bold American action is needed to guard against both these two types of quite probable future developments.

Yet while we take out insurance policies against the dangers that loom in the future, we ought not to neglect the present. Because the French leadership is now excellent, one can hope for good results from this winter's fighting. Yet whatever is done this winter will be done on a shoestring.

The thinness of the shoestring is best illustrated by a scene I witnessed just before the taking of Phu Nho Quan a couple of weeks ago.

The point battalion had just pushed off. The map in the dusty command tent showed all the rest of the division strung out along the road to Phu Nho Quan, like a narrow finger shoved deep into enemy territory. Big, dashing Gen. Cogny, the French commander in the Tonkin Delta, examined the map with a sort of genial distaste. The divisional commander caught the general's expression and remarked amiably:

"We shall take Phu Nho Quan, mon general, but I think I should inform you that I have no reserves left, really none at all anywhere. One must also note that there are considerable enemy forces in this neighborhood."

Cogny thought for a moment, then promised to fly in a battalion of paratroopers that afternoon. The divisional commander gave his thanks in a way that indicated this was a generous gift indeed—a single battalion as the sole reserve of an entire division strung out in line and largely surrounded by the enemy. In a sense, moreover, it truly was a generous gift.

The transfer of that battalion of paratroopers materially depleted Gen. Cogny's own central reserves; and Cogny's delta territory at that moment was menaced by no less than four other free and disengaged enemy divisions in other sectors.

The dash and ingenuity, the cool calculation of risks, of the new team of Gen. Navarre and Gen. Cogny is nicely suggested by this incident. Phu Nho Quan was successfully taken. The work of mauling the enemy's regular division in that particular sector was carried to businesslike completion. The enemy failed to exploit the opportunity. The gamble worked.

The fact that this operation reduced the central reserve in the delta to a point that would have whitened the hair of most American commanders, does not mean of course that anything like the whole of the Franco-Viet Namese force in the Tonkin Delta was invested in this one local offensive. Rather more than 60 per cent of all the battalions available were still tied down within the delta itself.

They were holding strong posts, guarding roads, and protecting vital provinces from the ravages of the Communist regular troops that have infiltrated into this vital delta which is the main French base.

There is still much that the United States can do to give Gen. Navare a wider margin of safety and success.

I myself have watched through the night while a brave village militia was all but overwhelmed for want of automatic weapons and a cheap radio to guide the supporting French artillery. I myself have watched a whole Viet Minh regular battalion running out of an otherwise perfect trap because there were no transport aircraft to drop paratroopers and thus stop the hole.

Enough transport aircraft to take over the whole ordinary task of supply in the delta, leaving the few miserable roads entirely free for military movements; at least one group of first-class jets, to deter the enemy from bringing in jets of his own and thus destroying the French air adventage; squadrons of light boats to police the rivers and canals and to facilitate large and rapid military movements by water; more helicopters to bring out the wounded—these are only a few of the aids that would vastly improve Gen. Navarre's position. If Vice-President Nixon is right all these and other aids ought to get on their way tomorrow.

Mother, Three Children Die In Explosion of Oil Stove

EDMONTON (CP) — A mother and three of her children died in an explosion and fire Sunday that destroyed their home just outside Edmonton's southwestern limits.

The victims were Mrs. Robert Blair, 33; five-year-old twins, David and Donna, and Marlene Blair, 14.

The father, Robert Blair, managed to escape and rescued an 11-year-old son, Donald.

An oil-burning stove exploded and the subsequent fire destroyed their home and its contents.

The father went to hospital and had three stitches put in a cut on his hand. The son went to Calgary to stay with relatives.

Blair reported he was going to take out the oil-burning stove in a few days and put in a hot-water heating system.

RCMP took the bodies from the ruins Sunday.

A neighbor reported he drove into Edmonton to get the fire department to "wet down" surrounding buildings but firemen told him he would have to get the approval of the fire chief or provide a cash payment.

The man, who apparently lacked the cash, left without obtaining agreement of the fire department to answer the call.

SEARCH CONTINUES

EDMONTON (BUP) — The search for a missing ambulance plane which vanished over northwestern Alberta with three persons aboard went into its third week today.

RCAF planes flew over the area while a ground crew of experienced bushmen ranged over bushland near Grande Prairie, where a green pistol flare was seen a few days ago. No reports of their progress were received here.

Eight air force planes entered the search Sunday, one more than on Saturday.

Missing were pilot Gordon MacDonald of Edmonton; Dr. Don Wilson of Grande Prairie, and his critically-ill polio patient, Lloyd Williams of Edmonton.

YOUNG GIRL STRANGLED

OGEMA, Sask. (CP)—The strangled body of six-year-old Irene Mooney of Edgeworth, Sask., was found in a darkened alley here Saturday night, two hours after she was sent to a cafe for ice cream.

Dr. A. Allaire, district coroner, said everything indicated the girl had been criminally assaulted. He said the girl was throttled, then thrown to the ground. She apparently died of a fractured skull.

An autopsy would be made and an inquest held.

RCMP erected roadblocks through the district. No arrest was reported up to early Sunday night.

Irene had come from her home to visit her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. MacDonald here. Bert Mead, a garage man, found her body in the alley about midnight.

Ogema is 76 miles south of Regina. Edgeworth is 10 miles north of here.

TWO-WAY FIGHT

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (BUP) —A two-way fight between the Social Credit and CCF parties was expected as nominations closed today for the Dec. 21 provincial by-election in the Medicine Hat riding.

The only candidates expected to be nominated were Social Crediter Mrs. J. P. Robinson and CCF standard-bearer Edwin W. Horne. Spokesmen for the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties said they would not contest the election if Mrs. Robinson were named.

The by-election was ordered following the death of Mrs. Robinson's husband, the late Dr. J. L. Robinson, who was minister of industries and labor in the provincial cabinet and had held the seat for the Social Credit party since 1935.

The vote will be the first government test of strength since the Social Credit landslide victory in the 1952 Alberta election, when the party captured 52 of the 61 seats.

Landlubber Not Only Victim As Cayuga Thumped by Storm

(This is the second of a series of articles by Ed Farey, program director of broadcasting station CKDA, who went as far as Pearl Harbor in HMCS Cayuga, bound for duty in the Far East. "Uncle Ed," as he is known to his radio audience, will return in HMCS Athabaskan, arriving here Dec. 11.)

By ED FAREY

HONOLULU—To summarize the voyage from Esquimalt to Pearl harbor needs only one word:

Rough.

This is no time of the year to be taking pleasure cruises around the wild Pacific in a slim destroyer. I found that out the hard way.

From the time we left Esquimalt, Nov. 25, to our arrival here Dec. 2, Cayuga was subjected to inclement weather and mountainous seas.

Was I ill? Answer: yes. But in self-defense I must report this was true of 90 per cent of the ship's company. The first two days at sea were the worst, and I believe I picked up my sea legs on the fourth or fifth day, but the gale-tossed Pacific made travelling anything but a pleasure.

The navy taught me one important thing. To counteract mal de mer—keep busy! And that's what I attempted to do by recording 200 Cayuga Christmas greetings for loved ones at home.

When I get back to Victoria, a special Cayuga Christmas program, featuring greetings to the Victoria area, will be broadcast over CKDA. Greetings for other parts of Canada will be sent to radio stations in the appropriate areas.

I have greetings for practically every province in the Dominion, as far east as Nova Scotia.

One of my happiest moments came when the commanding officer, Lieut.-Cmdr. W. P. Hayes, presented me with a specially contrived and constructed medal, immense in size, and inscribed:

"Those that go down to the sea in ships—Battle of the Pacific—for valor beyond the call of duty on board HMCS Cayuga."

Along with the medal was presented a scroll giving more detail concerning this alleged heroism—which I would just as soon not mention at this time.

Crimson Sash, Cape, Sword Added to Army Dress 'Blues'

OTTAWA (CP) — The army has set no date for ordering officers to add sash, cape and sword extras to their full dress uniforms, an official said today.

There had been some thought of making the order effective next June, he said, but that idea now has been dropped.

Under the provisional order, officers from second lieutenant to lieutenant-general would have to add a crimson sash, a crimson-lined cape, a sword scabbard and sling, a sword and special epaulettes to their full dress uniforms used for social and special ceremonial affairs.

Army ranks are believed to be taking sides on the clothing addition: Those opposed and those in favor.

Had the order been approved, it would have meant an extra $150 cost for officers. They currently get a $375 clothing allowance to cover normal duty wear and the full-dress "blues." An official said no additional allowance would be granted for the sash, cape and sword extras.

16,000 CANADIANS HELP NATO

Nation Well Ahead of Schedule In Commitments for Arms Aid

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada this year fulfilled well ahead of schedule its manpower commitment to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

As the year ends some 16,000 Canadians hold down vital positions in the huge West European-North Atlantic defensive area. With forces from 13 other NATO countries, they are ready to help repel aggression from the skies, over land or on the sea.

In addition, Canada is still pouring millions of dollars worth of supplies into the build-up of NATO's military muscle.

Defense Minister Claxton announced in 1951 that within three years, Canada would contribute 12 squadrons of Sabre Jet fighters to NATO air defense; one army brigade of about 6,000 men, and naval elements involving about 5,500 men.

NOW UNDER NATO

Last summer, three RCAF Sabre squadrons crossed the Atlantic in a leap-frog operation to join the nine squadrons that had preceded them. All now are under NATO operational orders.

The RCAF has not broken down its personnel assigned to NATO as to ground crew or air crew, but the total is about 4,500. This includes administrative personnel.

The army's 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade this summer and fall replaced the 27th Brigade which came home on rotation leave after two years in Germany.

The RCN has not been so specific about its contribution to NATO defense. It has pointed out that the east coast fleet would be available if the need arose.

This, in manpower, would amount to more than the 5,500-man allotment.

"EXERCISE MARINER"

During the late summer, five Canadian warships took part in NATO's "Exercise Mariner," biggest international fleet manoeuvres in peace-time history. They were commended highly by NATO commanders for their performance in the 19-day exercise.

The 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade came into being in the fall as part of the new 1st Canadian Infantry Division in what amounted to a major reorganization of the army. The division's 2nd and 3rd brigades are stationed in Canada and are augmented by paratroopers.

HUGE ARMY CAMP

At home, the army started construction of the most ambitious project in its history, Camp Gagetown, at Gagetown, N.B. The $25,000,000 camp will be used for training a division, including units destined for NATO service.

In time of war, Camp Gagetown would become the main east coast embarkation depot for the Canadian army.

Bound for NATO Conference

Defense Minister Claxton (right), and Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of joint chiefs of staff, leave Ottawa by air to attend North Atlantic Treaty Organization meetings in Paris. During trip they also will inspect Canadian military installations in Europe and the United Kingdom. (CP From National Defense.)

Electronic 'Brain' Elevators May Make Operators 'Extinct'

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP)—That daily diversion of millions of Americans—the elevator operator—is heading for extinction.

It won't be long before that shapely female or witty male operator becomes a part of the dim past if we catch the significance of a display by the Otis Elevator Company here today.

New engineering developments have made possible the first entirely automatic electronic elevatoring system in history. In a miniature reproduction of a 10-story office building, the Otis company reveals how an electronic "brain" enables four elevators to "think for themselves" in analyzing passenger traffic.

The system adjusts itself automatically to handle any one of six different traffic patterns throughout the day. It provides for efficient handling of the morning rush when "up" traffic is at a peak, restores a balanced program between peaks, sets the system again to handle the lunch-hour volume, and switches to a down-peak program at closing time.

There still seems to be a slight need for a starter.

'WEED' IN FLOWER POTS BRINGS ARREST

NEW YORK (UP)—John Catalfano, 28, was arrested yesterday on charges of growing and selling marijuana.

Police said the unemployed carpenter cultivated the narcotic weed in flower pots on the balcony of his Manhattan apartment.

Montreal Stores To Defy Religious Day Closing Ban

MONTREAL (BUP) — Montreal department stores will remain open Tuesday, the feast of the Immaculate Conception and the second anniversary of a by-law that orders the closing of stores on all Roman Catholic feast days, spokesmen said today.

A survey indicated that more stores than ever will conduct business as usual, with the smaller stores taking their lead from the big ones. The law calls for a $40 fine for each offense.

French-language banking firms will be closed, however, as will English banks in predominantly French areas. The courts will also be closed.

A final ruling on the validity of the law is expected in January.

HUGE TUSKS

CAPETOWN (CP) — Transvaal provincial game officers shot an elephant near the Kruger game reserve which produced the biggest pair of tusks seen in many years. More than seven feet long, they weighed 115 and 113 pounds.

Joint Economic Group In Preliminary Talks

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Corespondent

OTTAWA—Preliminary discussions were held Friday here betwen representatives of the United States and Canadian governments to make plans for the first meeting of the newly established Joint Canadian-U.S. committee on trade and economic affairs.

Both Prime Minister L. S. St. Laurent and President Eisenhower have expressed the desire that the work of this committee get underway as soon as possible.

First announcement of the formation of the committee came in mid-November on the eve of President Eisenhower's visit to Ottawa. Purpose of the joint committee is to provide a body for the consideration of all problems of mutual concern in trade and economics at a high level. It has been described as a kind of "high-level grievance committee."

The sooner the committee gets down to work the better insofar as the relations of the two countries are concerned on the trade and economic fronts. That has been the expressed view of Prime Minister St. Laurent and of President Eisenhower.

Attending the Friday meeting representing Canada were:

Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce; Hon. L. B. Pearson, secretary of state for external affairs.

The United States representatives were:

United States Ambassador to Canada Douglas Stuart; Sherman Adams, the assistant to the president of the U.S.; Gabriel Hauge, administrative assistant to the president; Howard Gordon, administrator of the commodity stabilization service of the U.S. department of agriculture and John Leddy, director of the office of economic defense and trade policy, U.S. state department.

SMALL HOLES IN A BILL TELLTALE BURGLARY CLUE

PEKIN, Ill. (AP)—A service station operator's report of a $51 burglary sent police rummaging through their own money drawer—looking for a dollar bill peppered with small holes.

The burglary victim gave that description of one of the bills taken from his station. Police recalled seeing a similar bill in their own till.

A search produced the buck, paid to police a few hours earlier by one of two youths who had been fined a total of $50 for disorderly conduct.

Police rearrested the youths and listed new charges of burglary and larceny against them Saturday.

DISASTER AT SARNIA!

The devastating tornado struck suddenly, causing millions of dollars' damage in minutes — a fearful example of the power of nature.

Most fire insurance policies provide protection against windstorm damage for a nominal additional premium. Wind damage in Canada is not uncommon, and Fire and Casualty insurance companies pay many windstorm claims each year. Tornadoes such as at Sarnia are fortunately rare.

Claims paid resulting from the Sarnia tornado totalled approximately $3,000,000 — an example of how the small contribution by the many who want protection provides full indemnity and compensation for those who do suffer loss.

Now, we are pleased to announce the opening of our new store, which we feel will facilitate our service to you in every way.

The former Super-Valu Store is a familiar spot to all downtown shoppers, now our new store. In celebration of our opening we have planned a gala, STORE-WIDE CUSTOMER WELCOMING EVENT — greeting our old friends and welcoming new ones with a deluge of money-saving opportunities. Some of these appear on the following four pages, others you will see when you visit our new store.

Our helpful and hard-working staff deserves a well-earned "Thank You" for their part in our opening, and we gratefully acknowledge the participation of the many nationally known manufacturers who have played such an important part in building our business.

Wings Suffer Double Shutout

Black Hawks Turn Trick, Win Two; Canadiens Win Pair From Bruins

SUNDAY

Chicago 5, Detroit 0; Montreal 7, Boston 2
New York 3, Toronto 3

SATURDAY

Chicago 2, New York 1; Toronto 3, Detroit 0
Montreal 4, Boston 2

The back-room boys around the National Hockey League circuit have it down in black and white: The brash Detroit Red Wings can be pushed around just like any other team.

EDDIE MAZUR
. . . shines for Habs

As a matter of fact, the Red Wings, who bulldozed through the league for the last five seasons, may have to go some to stay among the top three.

The Detroiters were fresh after shoving around Chicago Black Hawks 9-0 and 9-4 when they headed into the six-game week-end. That's as far as they got. They wilted 3-0 to Toronto Maple Leafs in Toronto Saturday night and were walloped 5-0 by the Black Hawks in Detroit Sunday.

The losses left the Red Wings in second place, three points behind Montreal Canadiens. The Canadiens, meanwhile, beat the fourth-place Boston Bruins 4-2 Saturday and then added a 7-2 victory over Boston in a home-and-home series.

In the other two games, the Leafs tied the fifth-place New York Rangers 3-3 Sunday and the Rangers dropped a 2-1 decision to Chicago Saturday.

The Leafs never looked better than against the Wings. Defenseman Tim Horton, right-winger Ron Stewart and left-winger Harry Watson accounted for the scoring and many of the close-in shots.

The Black Hawks, with gangling Al Rollins in the nets, scored twice within the first two minutes of play in Detroit Sunday. They even beat Sawchuk once while playing short-handed.

THIRD SHUTOUT

Rollins, recovering from the chicken pox, made 40 saves, 20 of them in the final period. It was his third shutout in 34 games of the 70-game schedule.

In the Montreal-Boston games, Canadiens came up with great scoring power in the last periods. On Saturday they scored four times, twice by Bernie Geoffrion, to overhaul the Bruins. On Sunday they were ahead 3-1 going into the third period and then beat goaltender Sugar Jim Henry four times.

ROUGH GAME

The Bruins were no match for Canadiens Sunday night. A crowd of 10,502 saw one of the roughest games of the season. Referee Red Storey handed out four majors to Bob Armstrong and Ray Gariepy of Boston and Butch Bouchard and Mackay of Montreal.

Geoffrion and Eddie Mazur scored twice. Maurice Richard, Ken Mosdell and Floyd Curry counted singles.

Saturday, the Black Hawks won their first home game in six weeks by edging the Rangers before a crowd of 4,108, smallest in Chicago this year.

Bisons Boost Lead in AHL

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Buffalo Bisons spotted Hershey Bears the first three goals Sunday night, then roared back for a 5-4 victory that stretched their American Hockey League lead to five points.

Arnie Kullman, Red Sullivan and Murray Henderson scored for the Bears in the first period. Gaye Stewart tallied for the Bisons late in the period.

Pete Wright counted for Buffalo early in the second and Gordie Pennell tied in the second minute of the final period. Don Marshall made good Pierre Pilote's perfect pass, and followed with an insurance goal. Gordie Wilson made it close with the Bears' final score.

Ottawa Leads Quebec Hockey League Race

The Ottawa Senators walloped the Quebec Aces twice during the week-end to take a two-point lead in the Quebec Hockey League.

Goalie Ray Frederick scored his second straight home-ice shutout as the Senators defeated Quebec Aces 3-0 Saturday night and Leo Gravelle chalked up a hat-trick in Sunday's 6-3 victory.

Sherbrooke's 6-3 win Sunday over Chicoutimi kept the Saints in third place, one point behind Quebec. Ed Stankiewicz paced the Saints with two goals.

Playing coach Doug McMurdy scored at 2.12 in overtime Sunday to give the Springfield Indians a 3-2 victory over the Montreal Royals. These were the same Indians who were downed 5-1 Saturday by Valleyfield on the strength of Andre Corriveau's hat-trick.

Dynamiters Hold Flyers to Tie

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Spokane Flyers and Kimberley Dynamiters skated hard and fast through three regular periods and one overtime frame but they ended their Western International Hockey League game in a 3-3 tie here Sunday night.

Les Lilley scored first for Kimberley in the opening period but at 7.05 of the second, Red Tilson tied it up. Spokane went ahead 2-1 after 31 seconds of the third on another Tilson score. Kimberley came back with two goals 18 seconds apart to go ahead 3-2, Hockley and Red Mellor doing the damage. Tommy Hodges for the Flyers evened it up at 5.26 and sent the game into a scoreless overtime period.

You Gotta Be a Football Hero

He never had it so good, did Bert Nelson, coach of the Navy team in the Victoria Canadian Football League. Big Bert, 43 years old, hauled on a uniform Saturday and played the starring role as his sailors beat the Victoria City All-Stars, 7-0, in the mud at Macdonald Park in a benefit game for injured players. On the field, Bert scored all seven points for Navy, while off the field he made time with cheer leaders Shirley Foot, left, and Grace Moffat. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

Young Man's Game...? Not Likely, Says Bert

Navy 7, All-Stars 0

It used to be that Canadian football was a young man's game. But now there is some doubt as to the factuality of that statement.

Take Saturday afternoon for instance.

The City All-Stars, 22 young men who were representing the best in civilian football, came up against the league champion Navy team in a benefit game for injured players.

And these 22 young men received a shattering lesson in football from a venerable gentleman of 43 named Bert Nelson.

Nelson, the Navy coach, dressed for the first time this season and did the following as the Navy club beat the All-Stars 7-0:

1. Scored all seven points for the Navy on two singles and a touchdown.

2. Alternated at fullback and quarterback on offense.

3. Was a bear-cat as a defensive line-backer.

4. Handled all the punting for his club and didn't get one bad kick away in spite of the greasy ball.

In short, the 43-year-old sweat, who did his professional playing with Winnipeg and Regina, was terrific.

WEATHER REAL WINNER

As for the game itself, the horrid weather conditions kept it from being the success that had been hoped for. A steady downpour had turned the field into a morass with mud several inches thick in some parts of the field. However, close to 500 hardy fans attended and contributed $100 to the injury fund.

The select team had been practicing together for only one week and lacked timing and cohesion in the backfield, although the line, sparked by Oak Bay's Leo Kozak and Vampire's Bob Rhodes, played great ball.

THE BEGINNING

Nelson, who came in mid-way through the first quarter, got his club away to a 1-0 lead when his high punt hit the crossbar and bounded into the end zone for a single.

All-Stars were unable to mount a sustained drive although fullbacks Ken Higgs and Cliff Hume got away for several long runs.

The score remained 1-0 until the third quarter when Nelson hoisted another long single shortly after the hard-charging Navy line had blocked an Oak Bay kick. Later in the quarter Nelson bulled over from the two-yard line on a quarterback sneak for the only major of the game.

Sharing the spotlight with Nelson was fullback Dave Burck, who reeled off a lot of yardage on plunges. Bob Dougan was sound as defensive line-backer and with Burck, Paul Skinulis and Nelson formed a defensive partnership the Stars were unable to break.

Higgs gained most of the yardage for All-Stars while the tackling of 16-year-old Bill Dawson and the blocking of George Wilson was outstanding.

MATCH TIED

Gorge Pair Keep Buttons, But Barely

Uplands' Bob Morrison and Frank Scroggs failed to capture the men's city senior golf buttons from Bob Fleming and Hugh Morrison, Gorge Vale, at Victoria Golf Club Sunday, but they will get another try.

Playing under poor weather conditions, Bob Morrison and Scroggs held Fleming and Hugh Morrison even and the quartet will meet again Dec. 20 in a replay at Victoria Golf Club.

Best ball was 66.

Landy Romps To New Aussie Mark

MELBOURNE (AP) — John Landy, running at a "picnic" meeting near Melbourne Sunday, covered 1,000 metres in 2.25.5, 5.1 seconds off the world record held by Audin Boysen of Norway.

Landy shattered his own Australian record by 5.9 seconds.

Landy was running at Williamstown Athletic Club's carnival "just to please friends." He had no intention of attempting a record run.

He will next run the mile at Olympic Park in Melbourne next Saturday. Last Saturday the Aussie who has run a 4.02.1 mile, turned in a disappointing 4.09.5.

U.S. Team Named For Net Semis

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) —Captain Bill Talbert today named a four-man United States team, including himself, to face Belgium in the Davis Cup interzone tennis final here Dec. 17-19.

The U.S. team will consist of Tony Trabert, Vic Seixas, Hamilton Richardson and Talbert. Bob Perry will be sidelined.

The winner of the series will meet Australia in the challenge round Dec. 28-30.

Captain Pierre Geelhand of the Belgian team also included himself on three-man squad, which will consist of Philippe Washer and Jacques Brichant.

Royals Edge North Shore

New Westminster Royals prevented Victoria United from taking sole possession of first place in the Coast Soccer League Saturday by shading North Shore United, 1-0, at Vancouver's Callister Park.

The victory allowed Royals to gain a second-place tie with United, who tied 2-2 with Vancouver City.

For league-leading North Shore, it was only the second defeat of the season and cut their lead to two points.

Bob Findler, converting Errol Crossan's pass, scored the only goal of the game.

Irish Whip Mustangs, End Season Unbeaten

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Fullback Neil Worden scored three touchdowns and all-American halfback Johnny Lattner two as Notre Dame applied pressure all the way for a 40-14 decision over Southern Methodist Saturday.

It was Notre Dame's ninth victory this season and it gave the Irish their first undefeated season in four years. Only blotch on their record was a 14-14 tie with Iowa.

In the only other major game Saturday, Houston University, two-touchdown underdogs, upset Tennessee, 33-19 before a homecoming crowd of 23,000 at Houston.

CITY RALLIES TO GAIN 2-2 DRAW

Hope's Injury Jolts United

Victoria U. 2, Vancouver City 2

BY TONY BRISTOWE

In the dying minutes of Saturday's Coast Soccer League game at Royal Athletic Park, Vancouver City, with an opportunist goal, turned certain defeat into a rather lucky 2-2 draw with Victoria United. Yet their tying goal was, in a sense, expected. In fact one felt it was almost inevitable.

United started the game with a fine sense of purpose. Their play was alert and constructive, despite incessant heavy rain and a chilling wind.

Then, just as we were anticipating a big win, Bill Hope twisted his knee in a tackle. At once, United's rhythm was lost. Hector McIntyre took over at right back, and strove nobly in the unaccustomed position, but there was now a sense of strain. Sooner or later, one felt, City must settle down and take advantage of the accident.

However, it was not until the very end that they succeeded, and then another splendid display by Bill McAllister in goal frustrated numerous attacks.

United opened the scoring after five minutes when George Wright played a loose ball cleverly to Chick Newman, who hit the ball deliberately past Ray Dixon.

An accurate cross from Sid Gorrie, and a well-placed header by Brian Philley gave City the equalizer; but United soon went ahead again when McMillan drove a rebound off the goal-post hard into the top of the net.

There matters rested until the very end. City could somehow not settle into the groove, and United fought desperately. City pressed hard just before the interval, and Tim Walker, Ab Travis and Wally Milligan all had good opportunities at goal after it.

Then suddenly Ken Harrison, taking advantage of shaky defensive positioning, was away. McIntyre tried gallantly to cover up, and McAllister got his hands to the shot, but not enough to save the goal.

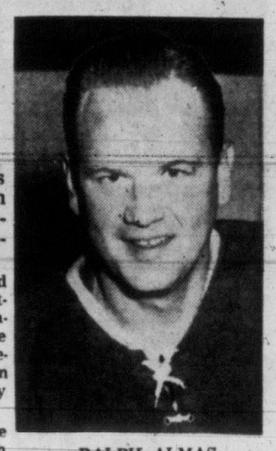
By this time, we were peering short-sightedly through the rain, the gathering dusk and the chicken wire. (Could this hangover from baseball not be removed? Fans who will turn out in such weather deserve a little consideration.) And as the drenched players splashed off the field, we murmured a special word of praise for George Wright, who played himself to a standstill, and for Tim Walker, who produced amazing speed in the mud.

Bomber Win Drops Cougars to Sixth

Canucks Here Tonight; Stamps Share WHL Lead

Seattle 6, Saskatoon 3; Calgary 3, Edmonton 1
Saskatoon 6, New Westminster 4

When Vancouver Canucks engage Victoria Cougars at Memorial Arena tonight, both will be seeking to regain lost prestige in the Western Hockey League with the Cougars facing a double incentive.



RALPH ALMAS
. . . to test Canucks

The Cougars were knocked into sixth place Sunday as Seattle Bombers surprised Saskatoon Quakers, 6-3, while the Canucks will be seeking to regain first place which position they now share with Calgary Stampeders.

Not only do the Cougars have to win to move back into fifth place but in doing so they must overcome a hex that the Canucks appear to hold over them.

The Cougars have yet to win a game against the Canucks this year, the only team to hold such a distinction, not to mention the fact that in Vancouver the Cougars haven't won a game for over two years.

Canucks found their league lead in jeopardy for the first time this season following Saturday's schedule which saw Calgary Stampeders edge Edmonton Flyers, 3-1, to move into a point tie with the mainland squad.

ROYALS' STREAK BROKEN

Meanwhile, the New Westminster Royals had their nine-game unbeaten home streak broken by Saskatoon Quakers who scored a 6-4 triumph, their second of their coastal swing and following a 3-0 victory over the Cougars here Friday.

BELL GETS THREE

Sunday night's rout of the Quakers was accomplished by courtesy of the sharp-shooting of Joe Bell, who potted three of Seattle's six goals for the victory which lifted Bombers into fifth place.

Playing coach Doug Bentley opened the scoring for Saskatoon, and George Senick netted the other two.

Bell's first two goals came before the game was as many minutes old.

Stampeders spotted Flyers a first-period goal by Frank Kubasek, then came back with three second-period tallies by Sid Finney, Gus Kyle and Frank Ashworth to win going away.

KALETA SCORES TWO

In the New Westminster game, it was Quakers' powerhouse attack and solid defense which earned them the victory. Alex Kaleta with two and Ray Manson, Don McLeod, Eldy Kobussen and Chuck Henderson were the goal-getters. For Royals, Ollie Dorohoy scored two with singles by Gordie Fashoway and Fred Denny.

Clippers Blank Sailors

Nanaimo 2, Navy 0

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP) — Nanaimo Clippers climbed back aboard the victory van Saturday night as they registered their initial shutout in the Vancouver Island Commercial Hockey League season, downing Navy, 2-0, at Civic Arena.

The game, however, was delayed over an hour as a result of the sailor's bus arriving at Nanaimo late. The bus broke down en route and later ran into bad weather conditions on the Malahat.

Many season ticket holders left the arena before the bus arrived, while others asked for their money back from the box office when it appeared doubtful the game would be played. The teams played two 15-minute, no-time-out periods, and one 20-minute, regulation stanza.

Clippers, still short-handed, had team captain Arnie Duggan back in strip. He notched Nanaimo's first goal on a double relay through coach Ed Shamlock and defenseman Bob Kemp at 9.30 in the first period. Joe Zuback made it 2-0 when he beat Navy goalie Norm Jones midway through the second period after Shamlock and Earl Robinson had set up the three-way scoring play.

JONES STARRY

Both clubs resorted to rushing plays in attempts to catch the opposing defenses with their guard down. Goalie Jones turned in an outstanding chore for Navy and was mainly responsible for holding the score down.

Nanaimo lost the services of veteran sniper Red Carr early in the game when he sustained a pulled tendon in his leg. He is expected to be sidelined for at least two or three games.

Soldiers Edge Eagles; Weather Curtails Play

Fifth Regiment of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association scored their second victory of the season Sunday when they blanked Eagles 1-0, on a muddy pitch at Upper Beacon Hill Park.

Ron Pearce scored the lone goal that gave the second division tail-enders the victory.

All other scheduled games were washed out due to wet ground conditions.

On Saturday, the feature of a full slate of games was fourth division Eagles' seventh consecutive victory, a 3-0 whitewashing over Gorge Way. In their seven victories, Eagles have only had one goal scored on them. Wesley Place, with two, and Dave Pollock, did the scoring.

In third division play, Lance Rutherford scored a second-half goal that gave the last place Black and White team a 1-0 victory over Eagles, division leaders.

Shutouts were the order of the day in the fifth division as Eagles blanked Delta Electric, 1-0, on Pat Mulcahy's goal. Heaneys beat St. Louis College 1-0 on a goal by Keith Bosher and Combines and Shepherd's Dairy battled to a no-score deadlock.

Dockers Boost Football Lead

SUNDAY

Esquimalt 2, Civil Service 1; Heaney's 3, Wood Motors 2

SATURDAY

Victoria West 3, Canadian Scottish 1

League-leading Esquimalt now holds a four-point lead in the Victoria and District Football Association.

Playing on a wet, wind-swept pitch at Lower Beacon Hill Sunday, the high-flying club increased their first-place margin by shading Civil Service, 2-1.

In other games Heaney's defeated Wood Motors, 3-2, at Bullen Park, Sunday, and Victoria West trimmed Canadian Scottish, 3-1, at Lower Beacon Hill Saturday.

Results of week-end play left Canadian Scottish holding down second place with a one-point margin over Civil Service and Victoria West, deadlocked for third.

Esquimalt and Civil Service came up with a good game despite conditions and both showed good passing.

Esquimalt took the lead in the first six minutes of play with outside left Alex Stewart putting a pass across to Jack Blevins. Blevins made no mistake in beating goalie Archie McMillan.

Servants got that one back at the 28-minute mark with Bob Allen putting a shot behind Esquimalt netminder Gene Pedneault. Teams left the field at half time with the score deadlocked at 1-1.

After 30 minutes of play in the second half, Alex Stewart passed to Art Young, who scored from in close to give Esquimalt their victory.

George Coldwell gave Heaney's a one-goal margin early in the game on a pass from Mel Sillers. Wood Motors' Jim Davison evened the count five minutes before half time.

Coldwell again put Heaney's one goal up 15 minutes into the second half and 10 minutes later Frank Greatley tallied to up the margin to 3-1. Ernie Eastlake cut the deficit in the final minute of the game to conclude the scoring.

During half-time Mrs. Tommy Hughes, 1177 Lyall Street, served the players sandwiches in her basement.

Red Turner scored two goals and George Brown added an insurance marker to give Wests their victory Saturday. Jim Ackinclose set up veteran Ernie Costain for Canadian Scottish's only goal.

Servicemen are scheduled to meet Heaney's Saturday while Esquimalt battles Scottish and Wood Motors clash with Victoria West Sunday.

City Baseball League Solves One Problem

Despite poor attendance at games played last season the Victoria Amateur Baseball Association could be said to have enjoyed a successful year.

The association will start next season with a bank account of only $35.61 but will have many of its equipment problems solved.

This year uniforms and equipment for 24 teams were obtained as well as umpires' equipment although the season's operating loss was $504.51.

It is likely that next season will see a combined senior-junior league and one all-star team to play exhibition games.

Detroit Clinches Tie For Pro Grid Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — The defending champion Detroit Lions clinched at least a tie for the western division lead by edging Chicago Bears 13-7 in the highlight of Sunday's National Football League action.

By winning, the Lions maintained their one-game margin over San Francisco 49ers, who downed Green Bay Packers 48-14. Each team has one game left to play.

In other games, the eastern division champion Cleveland Browns won their 11th straight without a setback by swamping New York Giants 62-14. Pittsburgh Steelers outscored Chicago Cardinals 21-17 and Washington Redskins blanked Philadelphia Eagles 10-0. Los Angeles Rams defeated Baltimore 45-2 Saturday.

George Ratterman, one of the top quarterbacks in the National Football League before he went to Canada for a disastrous campaign with Montreal Alouettes of the Interprovincial Football Union, emerged from obscurity Sunday to pilot Cleveland Browns to their lopsided victory.

Playing almost the entire game, Ratterman completed 15 passes in 27 tries for 235 yards and three touchdowns.

Two field goals by Doak Walker, for 41 and 36 yards, and a Bobby Layne-to-Dorne Dibble touchdown pass gave Detroit victory.

Government Asks Tax On Games

VANCOUVER (BUP)—British Empire Games manager Blair Clark expressed some dismay Friday at the government's ruling that the B.E.G. would have to pay the five percent amusement tax on all tickets sold for next year's games.

However, Clark said he found some consolation in the order.

He said, "we should be grateful that we don't have to pay the full 17½ per cent amusement tax," the rate levied on professional sports in British Columbia.

However, said Clark, "we had hoped to see the amusement tax wiped out entirely."

It was estimated that the province would realize about $17,500 from the tax.

PLAY AT DUNCAN TONIGHT

A's Hand Kins Second Defeat

Alberni 67, Kins 58

Victoria Kins will be in a touchy frame of mind tonight when they meet Alberni Athletics at Duncan in the second game of a week-end doubleheader.

In the first game of the week-end Vancouver Island Intercity Basketball League series Saturday night at Alberni the Athletics delivered Kins to their second loss of the season, walking off with a 67-58 victory in a typically wild Alberni-Victoria game.

Alberni scored a one-point victory over Kins in Victoria early in the season in the first meeting between the clubs and made it two in a row Saturday night.

BAKER MAY PLAY

Norm Baker, who does not plan to do any extensive traveling with the club until playoff time, did not accompany the team Saturday night but may make tonight's trip.

Johnny Clark, playing his second game of the season after a late start, was in strip Saturday and led the team with a 19-point effort. However, Clark did almost all of his scoring in the second half, like the rest of the club, being unable to hit the hoop in the first half.

Alberni jumped into a 19-10 lead at the end of the first quarter and never fell behind in the rough-and-tumble game. Kins cashed in from the free-throw line, hitting 21 of 25 tries, but were inaccurate from the floor until the last quarter when they almost pulled it out of the fire.

SCORING DUEL

The last quarter was a personal scoring fued between Clark and Alberni's Al Brown. Clark dumped in 12 points in the final quarter but Brown, hitting some tremendous long shots, stifled the Victoria attack although Kins scored 25 points in the quarter.

Centre Doug Brinham was the top scorer for Alberni, netting 17 points, while Brown followed with 16 and Dave Williamson and Elmer Speidel had 11 each.

Clark led the Victoria club with 19, followed by George Denison with 13 and Gerry Parker with 11.

Line-ups follow:

Victoria Kins—Clark 19, Parker 11, Bamford, Tooby 5, Denison 13, Jones 4, Jacklin, Curtis, Donahue 3, Woollett 3. Total—58.

Alberni Athletics—Samarin 4, Brown 16, Williamson 11, Brinham 17, Speidel 11, Veitch 2, Grisdale 4, Shick, McPherson 2. Total—67.

College Lead Pared in City Rugby

Only two points now separate the top two clubs in the Victoria Rugby Union second division.

Second - place University School gained on league-leading Victoria College I Saturday by blanking Oak Bay Wanderers, 19-0, at Windsor Park. In another game, Shanigan Lake Boys' School whitewashed Victoria College II, 25-0, at College grounds to move into third place.

Julio Leon scored two tries for University School, while Barry Roome, John Orford and Jim Rose each scored one. John Higgs converted twice.

Barney Ross and Barry Coats each scored two tries for Shawnigan Lake and David Reid, Barry Cooper and Tucker Battle added singletons. Derek Brookes kicked two converts.

In an exhibition midget game at Windsor Park, University School downed Oak Bay Wanderers, 25-0. It was the second straight victory for University School over Oak Bay.

Standings follow:

Star-Studded Field In Santa Anita 'Cap

ARCADIA, Calif. (UP)—A star-studded field of 80 domestic and foreign thoroughbreds was announced today for the 17th running of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap Feb. 27.

The 17 foreign nominees for the rich mile and a quarter classic that highlights the 50-day meeting included horses from Europe, the Americas and Australia. The domestic thoroughbreds included 34 top-flight campaigners that accounted for 63 American stakes during 1953.

The Santa Anita Handicap again carried $100,000 guaranteed to the winner.

Calumet Farm, which last year sent Mark-Ye-Well to the post to capture the Santa Anita Handicap, again nominated the son of Bull Lea and the famed stable also named Chanlea, winner of the Santa Anita Derby; Hill Gail, winner of both the Santa Anita and Kentucky Derby in 1952, and Fleet Bird, winner of several western stakes as well as second to Mark-Ye-Well in the Santa Anita Maturity.

The foreign contenders included Irish-bred Royal Serenade, winner of the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup last summer; English-bred Olympic, winner of the Trenton Handicap and numerous others. The other Irish-breds named were Indian Hemp, Shazada, Sun God and Thirteen of Diamonds. From France was named Yolo Staee's Aria Viva and the same stable nominated its Australian Stakes Star, Deep River II.

Other foreigners nominated included Classowa from New Zealand, King's Mistake from England, Nearque II from France and Star of the Forest from England. E. R. Williams of Australia named his stakes-winning Hydrogen, considered the top horse there since Phar Lap.

PLAYERS MAY FORM UNION

Pension Plan On Way Out?

NEW YORK (UP)—The major leagues were ready today to take the first step toward wiping out the player pension plan and warding off the formation of a player union.

Most of the club owners willing to discuss the matter said they definitely would vote to set up a committee next Wednesday, which in turn would investigate dissolution of the pension plan and report back to the owners at a subsequent meeting, probably in February.

The high executive council of baseball met last night to discuss strategy in a top secret meeting at commissioner Ford Frick's hotel suite. The other members of the council, league presidents Warren Giles and Will Harridge, and club owners Walter O'Malley of Brooklyn and Tom Yawkey of the Boston Red Sox will in turn report to their respective leagues today.

But while they weren't talking, attorney J. Norman Lewis, was.

He contradicted Frick's statement in Atlanta last week that he and the league player representatives were present at a meeting of the council last September 29 when a motion to dissolve the pension plan was made.

"I categorically deny, along with Reynolds and Kiner that, any such resolution or motion was submitted when we were present," Lewis said. "I also note some effort is being made to divide the players by saying we concealed information from them. That is absurd. The first we knew about it was in Atlanta last week.

FALSEHOOD

In Palm Springs, Cal., Kiner described as a "complete falsehood" any "statement that the owners had a resolution to end the pension plan and that Allie Reynolds and I failed to notify the players."

Lewis said that he would not attempt to attend any of the meetings of the owners this week because "they don't want me."

"The last time Mr. Frick spoke with me was on Sept. 29," he added. "He doesn't even know I'm alive."

Lewis also revealed he had received a letter from Louis Carroll, attorney for Frick's office, which stated that "we see no use for us to confer with you."

Meanwhile, the club owners debated at length, but only off the record, on how to handle the problem. Some think the players are ready to form a union, pointing out that Reynolds said they might have to incorporate unless they get proper recognition from the owners.

The pension plan, which became the focal point of the open revolt by players, is only one of many issues involved. They have at least 12 proposals, some of which were turned down flatly in the Sept. 29 meetings, others of which were tabled for further discussion.

Among the major demands are increase of the salary minimums from $5,000 to $7,500 or $8,000, eliminating schedule irregularties, better traveling facilities, increased expense allowances, and, of course, the right of Lewis to represent them in executive council meetings, even when the club owners themselves do not have an attorney present.

Labor May Have Voice In Senate Selections

Prime Minister Shows Sympathy for Railway Union's Recommendation

By VICTOR MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent told a labor delegation recently that a study of methods of filling Senate vacancies aimed at strengthening the prestige of the Upper House is now being carried on within the federal government.

He made the comments in reply to a brief presented to the cabinet by the Dominion joint legislative committee of the Railway Transportation Brotherhoods. Among the various requests put forward by the labor group was a proposal that when the existing Senate vacancies were being filled consideration should be given to the appointment of senatorial labor representatives.

The prime minister replied: "We are studying very closely the proper methods for filling the vacancies in the Senate. We aren't going to rush in and fill them one by one. We want to do something toward maintaining this feeling of most Canadians that the Senate is a good thing to have."

PRESTIGE HIS CONCERN

He realized that there were some persons across the country who strongly advocated abolition of the Upper House of Parliament. However, he was firmly convinced that the majority of Canadians wanted to see the Senate maintained but they would like to see its prestige enhanced. Consequently when making appointments to fill the vacancies the government had to be careful to avoid anything that would adversely affect Senate prestige.

Thirteen of the 102 Senate seats are now vacant.

The prime minister went so far as to declare that it would "not be a bad thing" to have representatives of labor appointed to the Senate. The suggestion would receive serious consideration, he indicated.

The labor delegation pointed out that there had been no labor representative in the Senate, recommended by labor organizations, since 1933. It was referring to the late Senator Gideon D. Robertson of Welland. He was appointed in 1917 on labor's recommendation. Senator Robertson was minister of labor in the Bennett cabinet at the time of his death.

The prime minister in his comments on the labor group's brief made it apparent that he regarded the Senate as an institution that should be retained in Canadian political life. This is in keeping with the sentiment in his home province of Quebec, where the Senate is considered as a safeguard for the constitutional rights of French-speaking Canadians.

Vietminh Raid Broken French Sources Claim

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—The French Army command said today its forces beat off a Vietminh attempt to destroy Gai Loc, a key French stronghold near the highway linking Hanoi with the seaport of Haiphong. The French claimed they inflicted "extremely heavy losses" on the Communist-led rebels.

YOUTH GIVES LEG BONE TO END CRIPPLED CHILD'S SUFFERING

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A newspaper copy boy, 18 years old, gave an 8¼-inch piece of bone from his leg so that an 11-year-old girl on the next block might recover from a leg tumor.

Jim Welch responded to a radio appeal. He will be in hospital about a month and will be on crutches about three months.

Welch's pay will be continued by the Rochester Times-Union until he is back on his feet.

The girl, Mary Ann Ranney, was suffering from a leg tumor described by doctors as not malignant. She had been ailing eight years.

Welch heard about Mary Ann's need for a bone transplant last month. He knew the family only by sight.

The operation, performed Monday, took four hours. The bone slice, a half-inch wide, was removed from his lower left leg and grafted on Mary Ann's lower leg.

The physician said Saturday Mary Ann's condition was satisfactory.

Sampson Murder Trial To Resume at Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Trial of Cecil Christopher Sampson, 30, and his wife, Edith, 26, for the murder of Chew Deb in Duncan three years ago, was scheduled to resume in Assize Court today after a month-long adjournment.

Charge is of murdering Chew Deb, 81-year-old Chinese, in his cabin near the Cowichan River at Duncan.

Accused will be represented by Thomas Hurley, Vancouver. Frank Cunliffe, QC, of Nanaimo, will represent the Crown. Mr. Justice A. C. Macfarlane will preside.

FLIGHT CURES COUGH

SALZBURG, Austria (Reuters)—A six-year-old Austrian girl was cured of whooping cough after a mercy flight in a U.S. army plane here last week, it was reported today. Ava Maria Markl's doctor had prescribed a plane flight at an altitude of about 5,000 feet.

UN Resolution On Atrocities 'Disappointing'

Senator Wants Full Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Charles E. Potter (Rep.-Mich.), said today he will seek early Senate action on a request for a full-dress United Nations investigation of Communist atrocities in Korea.

Potter has concluded a three-day United States Senate probe of Red atrocities with an announcement that he could not "conceal my great disappointment in the resolution of censure and the expression of 'grave concern' passed by the United Nations."

He referred to the UN General Assembly resolution adopted Thursday. U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge pushed through the resolution over opposition of the Soviet bloc.

Potter said he will offer in the Senate, when it meets next month, a resolution to ask the UN to "appoint an impartial investigating commission in its next session to bring the Communists found responsible for these inhuman crimes to the bar of justice."

Potter, a member of the Senate investigations sub-committee, began the hearings here after Lodge asked UN action on the atrocity resolution. Potter said his new proposal is intended to bolster Lodge's position.

Wealthy Man Killed Trying To Aid Marines in Brawl

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UP) —A wealthy manufacturer was killed in a street brawl Sunday night when he went to the assistance of two marines attacked by a gang of teen-age hoodlums.

William D. Cluff, 54, president of the Western Chemcial and Manufacturing Company, was knocked down when he waded into the fight and his head struck the pavement. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital.

PFC. John Moore, 18, and PFC. David Kurth, 18, both of Camp Pendleton, Calif., said they were standing on the street corner waiting for the signal to change when five youths attacked them.

Moore said Cluff entered the fight as soon as it started.

"He stepped into a blow from one of the mob and just dropped to the curb, out cold," he said.

The wealthy businessman was on his way to meet his wife, Dorothy, 45, for dinner at a downtown restaurant at the time.

Canada Dooms Man to Life On High Seas

Deported Armenian Another O'Brien

OTTAWA—A man without a country, doomed to roam the high seas because Canada would not allow him to stay on her soil, will probably spend another cold, damp winter at sea aboard a Danish freighter.

The man, an Armenian by birth who had worked in Canada for four years and established himself as a respected citizen, was ordered deported when a board of inquiry found he was illegally in Canada. He was placed on board a ship sailing from Montreal, July 23, 1952 and the high seas have been his home ever since. No nation will allow him to land and take up residence.

His name is Hovannes Minasyan, alias Michael Alexander. He is Canada's equivalent of the now famous O'Brien, another man without a country who found all ports barred to him for many months.

Hon. Walter Harris, minister of citizenship and immigration, after careful review of all the facts before the board of inquiry confirmed its decision and ordered the Armenian deported from Canada. Mr. Harris told the Victoria Daily Times that so far as he was aware Minasyan, alias Alexander, is still on the high seas hoping to find a home some day on land. When he was deported Canada had no idea that he would be barred from landing in any country.

Minasyan or Alexander was born in Armenia in 1916 which makes him 37 years of age. He had been an employee of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company up until 1941 when he went to India.

According to his records in the immigration department he served with the British forces in the Royal Engineers from 1942 to the end of the Second World War. Then he joined the British Merchant Marine as a fireman. He claims to be an orphan having lost his mother and father during the First World War.

BETWEEN TIMES

By PUNCH ROBERTS

The Ask the Times editor is a very careful and accurate man.

He does not take any chances on giving the wrong answers. He always goes right to the source for his information.

If you were to ask the Ask the Times editor what time is it in Nagasaki, Japan, the chances are he would telephone the mayor of Nagasaki, Japan, and ask him the time.

So you see, he naturally turned over the following question to me for attention, as I am by far the best authority on the subject.

"To Ask the Times editor:
"Where can I buy a dog just like Punch, Monte Roberts' friend, whose breed, although I raised dogs for many years, I have so far been unable to identify?"
Quadra Street. G.S.L.

Well, how do you like that? And I thought this was going to be a clean campaign, with no mud slinging. Then along comes a letter to the Ask the Times editor, which casts nasturtiums at me.

What kind of a question is that, asking where you can buy a dog like me?

Have I not made it clear I cannot be bought?

I will give freely of my services to the city—if elected—but my loyalty is not for sale.

Not even for freshly-simmered stewing beef would I depart an inch from my duty as I see it.

And as for the part referring to what breed am I, this is the most unkindest cut of all.

It is nothing but a last-minute roorback, an effort to discredit me on the eve of the election.

Next thing you know, someone will be accusing me of burning down kennels.

I will have you know, G.S.L., I am an umpteenth generation Canadian. Breeding is as breeding does, you know, and by all the standards of canine behavior, I am a very well-bred dog indeed.

How would you like it, G.S.L., if you were a candidate, and somebody up and questioned your breeding?

Well, I am not worried. All my loyal supporters will answer your question with their ballots on election day.

This is just another roorback which is bound to backfire and will actually help me get votes.

I would like to make a happier report on my election campaign.

I am now convinced I have captured the cat vote!

From all sides, I am receiving promises of support from the feline population of this fair city. For instance:

The official representative of the Cats' Protection League writes: "I see from your picture in the paper you are the best-looking prospect for mayor, and you'll have my vote if you promise to keep those Oak Trees standing so I can be a little above you when we meet."

And Mrs. Agnes L. Sposita assures me that the James Bay cats, under the chairmanship of Smokey, have formed a "Punch for Mayor" committee.

All I can say is, the election is in the bag.

And when I'm elected, I shall let the cat out of same.

A thief stole $55 from the dresser jewelery case of Mrs. K. Gray, 2543 Government Street during daylight hours Saturday. She had been keeping the money ready to pay for furniture to be delivered that day.

A careless driving charge against Walter J. W. Wilson, 2527 Cedar Hill Road, was quashed in County Court today by Judge J. B. Clearihue.

Mr. Wilson had appealed a lower court conviction which threw a $40 fine and a two-month suspension of his driver's license.

The appeal was allowed because, as Judge Clearihue said evidence, was mostly "expressions of opinion, very few of which were exact." Counsel for Mr. Wilson was Ron Grant.

A license suspension and a $50 fine were meted out to Guy R. Crowther, Saanich Road, when he appeared on a charge of careless driving before Magistrate H. C. Hall today.

Charged after he had knocked down a pedestrian with his car, November 26, in a stop-when-occupied zone, Crowther pleaded guilty. But he told the magistrate he did not see the pedestrian, because of another car preceding his slightly on his right.

Car Skids, Plunges From Gorge Bridge

Lucky Driver Escapes With Shock, Soaking as Winter Slicks Highway

A Dockyard worker's car skidded through the rail of Gorge Bridge at 8 a.m. today, plunged 40 feet into chilly water. But John W. Dyson, driver, escaped with minor cuts, shock and soaking.

Winter weather caused a series of week-end accidents which sent 11 to hospital. All but two have been released.

The Dyson car skidded as it reached the Gorge Bridge surface, slick after a frost. It jumped the curb, crashed through the guard rail and turned over completely as it fell to the water.

The car rested, wheels up, in the narrows, where the tide frequently runs dangerously swift.

The water shorted circuits and the horn burbled for an hour, gradually growing weaker, summoning scores to the scene of the crash.

TWO IN HOSPITAL

Still in hospital are traffic casualties Shirley Foote, 1010 Queens, and Elizabeth Robertson, 1203 Rockley, both in good condition.

Miss Foote was a passenger in a car driven by John A. Shields, 1521 Camosun, police report. The car went out of control and struck a pole on Blenkinsop Road early today.

Shields suffered head cuts and shock. Both went to Jubilee.

FOUR CASUALTIES

Elizabeth Robertson, 19, was one of four hurt in an accident at Burnside and Harriet at 1 a.m. Sunday. She received a cut forehead and a knee injury when a car driven by Arthur D. Evens, 659 Niagara, struck a pole following a collision with a vehicle driven by Walter Tribe, 291 Island Highway.

Also requiring hospital treatment were driver Evens, P. Graham, 3320 Aldridge, and Miss Gerry Bowes, 2321 Lee Avenue. Saanich police, who attended the accident, said none of the latter was seriously injured.

Dorothy Bell, 816 Read Street, was released from hospital the same night after treatment for neck injuries following a collision at 5 p.m. Saturday. The car in which she was riding, driven by Arthur Bell, same address, allegedly was struck in the rear by another driven by Stanley Mossop, 86 High Street.

PEDESTRIANS HURT

Knocked down by a car at Gordon and Humboldt, pedestrian H. S. Holben, New England Hotel, went to hospital with cuts and bruises.

Another man, Leonard Shouldice, 1136 View, was knocked down by a car early today at Wharf and Herald. He was treated for bruises to both knees at St. Joseph's and released. Driver involved was George M. Ewen, 581 Normandy, police said.

William Buchan, Elder Timber Company, Sooke, also was taken to St. Joseph's Saturday night with cuts to his hand and head, after an accident on Sooke Road. Details are not known. He was released after treatment.

CURTIS QUIT ON PRINCIPLE, HE DISCLOSES

Attacks Procedure On Schools Cash Vote

Veteran school trustee, Austin Curtis, revealed today that his surprise resignation from the board made Nov. 28 was over "a matter of principle" in connection with the manner in which ratepayers of this district are being asked to vote on the $3,385,700 school loan question.

Mr. Curtis' full statement on the matter is as follows:

"Owing to difficulties raised by eastern financial interests, the Department of Education advised the School Board at the very last moment that a referendum on the school construction program would have to be placed before the electors instead of a money by-law.

"I know that the department and the board faced a very unfortunate situation, not of their own making, on short notice, but I feel that a principle is involved."

In revealing his feelings, Mr. Curtis made quite clear he was whole-heartedly in favor of the loan, but was objecting to the procedure now to be followed.

Mr. Curtis believes the question should have come to ratepayers as "a straight by-law." Instead, it is being submitted as a referendum, but still restricted to ratepayers.

"COULD NOT GO ALONG . . ."

"I could not go along with the proposal to deprive the citizens of the right to vote on the actual by-law to provide money for school construction, substituting for this right the referendum transferring this power to the school board—hence my resignation.

"It is a matter of regret to me that owing to short—although quite legal — notice of the board meeting when this matter was dealt with, I could not be present owing to a previously arranged business appointment up-Island.

"I desire to stress most strongly that this resignation must not be taken as opposition to the school building program; I am whole-hearterly behind it. The accommodation is vitally needed and I urge a favorable vote."

H. L. Campbell, deputy minister of education for B.C., acknowledged today that his department was requiring school boards throughout the province to arrange for referendums, rather than by-law votes, when their building programs extended over a long period.

FISHER EXPLAINS

J. V. Fisher, deputy minister of finance, who handles the merchandising of school board debentures, explained the two chief reasons.

He said first a by-law was restrictive inasmuch as it had to specify the date debentures would be issued; had to show the exact rate of interest, and had to show the exact amount for payment and carrying of the debt.

"One simply can't say what the interest rate will be next fall or the year atterwards," Mr. Fisher said. "And any bond which doesn't confer with the market rate is likely to suffer."

He said the other reason was that when long-range building programs were involved, it meant keeping "idle money" to borrow before it was actually needed.

If voters approved a by-law, he explained, all the money would have to be borrowed within a specified period.

On the other hand, if voters approved of floating a loan through a referendum, the school board was free to pass loan by-laws as the money was needed. He said the referendum set out the limit of the school board's borrowing power so that control was left in the hands of property owners.

JACK GIBSON

Up-Island Man Succeeds Cox In Liberal Job

Jack Gibson, former Independent MP for Comox-Alberni, has been named treasurer of the B.C. Liberal Association, president Sydney Smith of Kamloops has announced.

He succeeds Arthur Cox of Victoria who held the post for 15 years.

Mr. Cox asked to be relieved before the Victoria by-election. He took an active part in the by-election campaign.

He will continue as secretary of the Victoria Liberal Association.

The new treasurer is a brother of Gordon Gibson, Liberal MLA for Lillooet.

Impaired Driving Charges Against Three on Week-End

Three drivers were charged over the week-end with driving while their ability was impaired. Two were fined $250 and the third remanded in city police court.

Leo Gionet, 10 Eton Avenue, and Cecil F. Johnson, 850 Dominion, paid their penalties. Robert Harvey, 20 Sylvan Lane, was remanded without plea until Dec. 14.

Gionet had been involved in an accident. Failing to observe a stop sign, he collided with another car at Blackwood and Hillside Sunday night, police said.

Johnson shattered a 20-year perfect driving record just 10 days ago when he was fined for careless driving. At that time he had offered Magistrate H. C. Hall documentary awards to support his case.

He asked the magistrate today not to suspend his license because he makes his living driving a truck.

Magistrate Hall said he would consider the request after seeing a probation report but Johnson will not be able to drive at least until that is prepared.

Traffic Slowed, Work Speeded

Sunday's weather worked both to the advantage and disadvantage of a public works crew which spent the day carrying out repairs to one-half the deck of Johnson Street Bridge.

The bad weather apparently kept motorists at home so there was little traffic to bother them. At the same time, it was cold and miserable working in the open.

MARGARET CLAY SEES NATION REBORN

India, Growing to New Stature, Sheds Ancient Caste System

By TONY DICKASON

Religious or political leaders in India no longer get anywhere by going on hunger strikes to achieve their ends. Governments on the sub-continent today just let the passive resistance advocates starve to death.

So says Miss Margaret Clay, former chief librarian at the Victoria Public Library, who returned Sunday from a round-the world trip of "25,000 miles, plus."

The governments believe, she said, that "work" is the answer to India's problems, not protest by passivity.

Miss Clay, who visited many universities and libraries during her trip, said the youth of India was avid for education as any in the world. "Universities and libraries are packed, crammed."

MISS MARGARET CLAY
. . . girdled globe

She said also that in Indian history and affairs, the people themselves had done more towards self-education than any outside source—"and this includes the British." The education problem there was to get technical know-how wedded with the fatalistic philosophy of the country.

Communism Resisted

India, having little in the way of natural possessions, plus a great poverty of the soil, had developed a fatalist philosophy. This she saw as a bulwark against Communist inroads. However, it also had a weakening effect on democracy, offset by the followers of Ghandi, strong democrats.

"Communism in India is not getting anywhere, except among the student groups," she said.

Refugees from India and Pakistan were still pouring back and fourth across the borders since partition. "All India seems to be on the move . . . women . . . fathers . . . babies . . . goats . . . baskets of cow dung . . . household possessions wrapped in shawls."

Achievements since partition, however, she said "have been great." India itself is now in the throes of a giant five-year-plan, but with the extreme poverty there even this would be only a "drop in the bucket of progress."

Caste System Dying

The caste system, so long a drawback to the country's progress, Miss Clay said was gradually being overcome, and that the younger people and western ideas were helping this.

Highlight of her two-month visit to India was a four-day stay at a village co-operative founded by Ghandi 12 years before his death. The village of Sevagram in Central Province is devoted to principles of basic education and attended by people of many languages and religions.

Under village leaders Arya Nyakam and his wife Asha, folk-crafts, agriculture and other basic training is given to representatives from all over India. Prayers are chanted in many languages. Graduates go out to their native villages imbued with the spirit of co-operation, plus the skills learned in Sevagram.

Flew Whole Route

Miss Clay left Victoria Oct. 5, 1952. Except for tours within the countries isited, she flew all the way. In India she traveled on one stage of her journey by bullock cart.

She said there was more anti-British feeling to be found in Southern Ireland than in India.

In Lebanon, current world hot-spot, the feeling was "terribly anti-Semitic." She said travellers couldn't get from Israeli to Lebanon with an Israelia visa, or vice versa.

Miss Clay said her trip had been "strenuous," and admitted to losing "a lot of weight."

Among other countries she visited were Honolulu, Australia, New Zealand, Cyprus, Greece, Italy, Switzerland, France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway and the United Kingdom.

FIVE MAYORAL CONTESTANTS TALK TONIGHT

Tonight will be the last time the five candidates for mayor will appear together before Thursday's civic election.

The five rival candidates will speak at 8 tonight in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden, at a meeting arranged by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Each candidate will be allowed 10 minutes to say what he wants. After the speeches, the candidates will be subject to written questions from members of the audience.

Two private meetings have been scheduled for Tuesday.

Ald. Waldo Skillings announced today he will speak Tuesday at 8 in Victoria West Community Centre and will welcome questions from anyone at that time.

Mayor Claude Harrison has scheduled a meeting Tuesday at 8 in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden.

Saanich By-Law May End Water Restrictions

Water restrictions during the summer months may no longer be necessary in Saanich, if ratepayers approve a $185,000 waterworks by-law at the December 12 municipal elections, according to John Tribe, municipal clerk.

The by-law was unanimously approved by Saanich Council to alleviate an acute water shortage in some areas of the municipality during the summer.

While the project will not alleviate water shortages throughout the 38-square-mile municipality, Mr. Tribe said the water supply will be improved to such an extent that it may not be necessary to impose sprinkler restrictions.

The areas connected with the new and larger pipes would be linked direct with the chief city water main and the amount of water drawn by these districts will not affect the water pressure in localities where there is a need for more water, Mr. Tribe explained.

The by-law provides for 21,051 feet of water pipes, varying in size from six to 16 inches. The Gordon Head and Ten Mile Point districts and the panhandle area between Shelbourne and Foul Bay Road will benefit the most if the by-law is approved.

The present proposed project is only a start in solving the water problem in Saanich. It is aimed at remedying the main bottlenecks in the municipality, and the plan is based on a water survey conducted a few years ago by Fred Stewart, consulting engineer.

Councillors believe it will take at least another six years before the water problem is solved in Saanich.

56-MILE WIND

northern end of Saanich peninsula.

One communications failure was not blamed on the weather. Genoa Bay was cut off from the world Saturday night when a car went out of control and smashed a telephone pole.

TELEPHONE FAILURES

Victoria had its own peculiar type of telephone failure, caused when constant strong wind forced moisture through minute cracks in cable coverings to wet inner insulation. Repair men said "hundreds" of telephones were put out of order Sunday.

Except for the 'phone trouble, the city came through the 36-hour storm practically unscathed. The waterfront reported no damage, and except for a few blocked drains, cleared by city and municipal crews, there were no drainage problems.

The storm proved a windfall," however, for beach-combers. The city's shores are well cluttered with wood to please the hundreds of scavengers who rely on the sea to give them well-salted wood for many-colored hearth fires.

Gonzales Observatory official thermometer dropped to 36 degrees Sunday night and weatherman William Mackie said he had had reports of ground temperatures of 28.

The result was the Malahat's first snow of the season, and a light blanket of snow on trees in the Highland district.

Peak wind speed reached in the storm was 42 miles per hour Saturday at 1.30 p.m., with gusts of 56. It gradually decreased to 24 miles on Sunday, but gusts of 32 miles were recorded Sunday night.

Total rainfall recorded between 4.30 a.m. Saturday and 4.30 a.m. today was 1.26 inches.

Mr. Mackie said rain had fallen every day to date this month, and he expects more rain tonight in advance of a storm that now is 800 miles off shore.

Rain will continue Tuesday morning, he said, and conditions generally will be unsettled. Temperatures will range between 40 and 48 degrees.

TELEVIEWERS HOPE TO SEE CBUT CLEARLY

Sound patterns transmitted from Vancouver's new television station, CBUT, channel 12, were being received here fairly well Sunday, local TV technicians report.

Although there was no screen pattern, reception here when the station commences later this month is expected to be fair. Good reception is expected when a permanent antenna is completed next year.

The station will telecast a varied program, which includes news, drama, music, talks, sports and public opinion, and will begin telecasting at 5 in the evening.

RCMP Highway Patrol Cars Catch New Driver-Culprits

Traffic violators are still feeling the heavy hand of the law at Colwood, where RCMP have not let up a drive to make drivers more careful.

Eight motorists appeared before Magistrate A. I. Thomas in Colwood court Saturday.

Edward W. Pinchback and John E. Hanley of Victoria both paid $10 and costs for failing to have carrier plates on their trucks.

A $200 fine was handed out to George S. Hutchison, Happy Valley Road, who was convicted of driving while impaired by alcohol after he forced a car off the road at Colwood Corner, Nov. 29.

John McRae, after being warned four times by police, was remanded for sentence because he did not produce a driver's license for checking officers.

Driving without lights cost Robert W. Patterson $10 and costs. His case had been transferred from Ladysmith.

Failing to observe a stop sign at Station Road in Langford meant a $20 fine with $5 costs for John Lister.

Glen W. Stilwell paid $15 and $3 costs for speeding in a 30-mile zone, and Frank Saville, charged with careless driving for running into the rear of a truck, paid $10.

A violation of game regulations brought the only non-traffic offender to court. John Tipton paid $10 and costs for trapping without a license.

SCHOOL VOTE RESULT WAITS OUTSIDE TALLY

Result of city ratepayers' decision on the school loan by-law referendum to be put to them Thursday will not be made known until Saturday night, Frank Hunter, city clerk and returning officer, said today.

The result of the vote in the city, he explained, must not be given out before municipal ratepayers vote on the same referendum on Saturday.

NEW GENERAL MANAGER of the government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway is R. F. P. Bowman of Medicine Hat, Alta. His appointment was announced by Premier W. A. C. Bennett last week. Mr. Bowman, formerly with the CPR, succeeds J. A. Kennedy of Victoria who retired last year. E. C. Eagan acted as manager of the PGE after Mr. Kennedy's retirement.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Re the 116 polio cases in Greater Victoria, did 98 cases originate in areas where there is poor drainage or no proper sewage system? C.T.S.

A.—The figures have changed substantially since the 116 you mention. No conclusive answer to your question is possible at present. Health authorities state that in tracing spread of the disease a large number of person-to-person cases have been found. Never before have such numbers of contacts of this sort been listed. This and other factors are given constant study, which is expected to be of increasing value when the polio wave has completely died out.

Q.—Can you answer this? How did the Saskatoon team in the WHL come to be known as the Quakers? E.M.H.

A.—This matter would appear to be an obscure one even for the people of Saskatoon, or many of them. Coach Doug Bentley, in Victoria for last Friday night's game, told the Times he had found no documentary proof, but he believed the name was derived from the fact the Quaker Oats Company has a large cereal plant at Saskatoon.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Victorian Cuts, Polishes Stones in Unique Jewelry

By PENNY SAVER

Never did realize there was so many talented craftsmen in this town! Why we're just swarming with them! If people only knew the half of them and the clever work they're doing, they'd buy hand-made Christmas gifts without a doubt.

Take for instance the fellow that cuts and polishes stones and sets them in earring, pendant, brooch, cuff-link and tie clip backs. Why, he's a master at the art!

My favorite of his pieces was an antique-looking brooch made from highly-polished obsidian. Quite large, it's set in a gold-filled backing that looks for all the world like honest-to-goodness antique gold . . . $5.

* * *

A pair of genuine agates have been set in the same type of "old-gold" backings. Pardon me, there are four agates . . . two drops and two little studs from which they hang. The pair costs $5.

Genuine tigerite, mined in South Africa, was used in the making of a three-piece set, including earrings and necklace . . . $10.50.

Also in tigerite is a three-piece set for the man in your life. Tie clip and cuff links cost $10.

* * *

And that's not all!

Ever seen a necklace made of sodalite? It's a beautiful shade of royal blue and our craftsman has made some of it into the necklace with a pair of earrings . . . the whole set going for $10.

* * *

The ever-popular scents, "Chantilly" and "Quelques Fleurs," are welcome gifts at any time of the year. But now for the Christmas season, dainty vials of the perfumes have been done up with fancy miniature chairs to make the perfect gift for the lady of taste. The chair, although not decorated in the traditional red and green of the season, is absolutely the sweetest miniature I've seen. And being made of metal, she can keep it long after the perfume is gone. The metal has been painted white and the seat of the chair is padded with a tiny satin cushion in pink or blue . . . your choice. There is a ruffle of net around the cushion and imbedded in a nosegay of flowers is the vial of fragrance. Just $2.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Family Service Association Smooths Many Problems

I want to write today about an organization in America which is doing such a superb job in giving sympathetic and trained guidance to family problems. So often these complex and unhappy domestic tangles can be straightened out with expert help if it is gotten in time. I am speaking of the Family Service Association of America.

This is a non-profit organization. It has 240 member agencies scattered over the country and is within street car distance of about 55,000,000 Americans. The idea has spread and is spreading slowly. In many instances public-minded persons put up the money for the first year because they recognized the need for such an agency in their community. The Community Chest usually takes the financing over later on. The national headquarters is in New York city and gives council and help to member agencies.

The Family Service Association gives aid to practically every problem a family can have. When the problem is psychological it gives expert help, and stays in there pitching until the problem is smoothed out. This may be an unhappy marriage or a runaway child or any other number of heartaches. When the situation is due to bad luck, illness and so forth, the association calls into action all of the community resources. It knows them all in each of its communities. It may even help financially in a crisis until permanent arrangements can be made.

I receive so many letters from people who want help from me or guidance as to where to go that I feel I am adding to the health and happiness of my readers by calling this organization to their attention.

So much misery and even ill-health is caused by the strains and stresses and worries within family groups that for health's sake as well as for happier living, these situations should be overcome if possible.

If there is such an agency in your community and you need help go to see them. If there is not one perhaps you can stimulate the beginning of one.

AS WE LIVE

Children's Diseases Almost Inevitable

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Children's diseases are almost inevitable in civilized life. Should parents try to keep their children from having these diseases? A mother writes:

Hurlock

(Q) "We have three children, ranging in age from five to nine years. They have been very healthy up to now and have missed very few days from school. The youngest is in kindergarten this year and I am facing the problem we had with the other children, 'children's diseases.' Recently, one of his classmates came down with mumps. I kept my child home from school. Fortunately, he did not get the mumps, but many of the children in the kindergarten did. If he had, I know the two older ones would have come down with the mumps and we would have had three sick children on our hands. My husband says children should get these diseases when they are children, but I disagree. Who is right?

(A) If you could guarantee that your children would never have measles, mumps, chicken pox, German measles, or even whooping cough, you would be right. But, as there is no known way of preventing these diseases, your husband is right.

I suggest that you discuss this matter with your doctor. I am sure he will advise you to let your children get these diseases when their friends have them, and get them over with. He will also tell you which of the diseases can be minimized by serums given when the child has been exposed to a particular one, such as measles or whooping cough.

As your children grow older, children's diseases will be more serious than they would be now. They will take longer to recover from them. Then, too, it is always embarrassing to a teenager or adult to have a "child's disease" and to be subjected to teasing.

If you overprotect your children you will lay up trouble, not only physically but psychologically, for them when they are older. Let them take the knocks and troubles of childhood when they can take them best.

Many Ways to Acquire Charm Instructor Tells Gathering

Basic hints on how to keep well, look smart and tone down the extra few pounds of weight, were presented in a relaxing and entertaining way to an interested group of women in the Flamingo Room at the Crystal Garden.

Occasion was a charm review sponsored by the Women's Committee of Victoria Symphony Society and presented by Mrs. B. Sheridan and Miss Doris Sheridan of Sheridan's School for Charm. They were introduced by Mrs. Jack Barraclough, committee president, who also presented Mrs. Sheridan with a corsage bouquet. Following the presentation, afternoon tea was served.

In introducing the review, Mrs. Sheridan emphasized the necessity of good health for real beauty.

Two factors she blamed for poor health among Canadian women are incorrect breathing ("We use only a small percentage of our lung capacity.") and eating devitalized food.

A group of students from the Charm School graphically illustrated the necessity of dressing to type.

Mrs. Kitty Jay, a very petite woman, first appeared in a flaring, large-patterned skirt, three-quarter length coat, and flat shoes which made her look even shorter, and then later changed to a short jacket, slim skirt, and high heels that suited her perfectly.

Two business girls, Sally Christie and Beverly Willsie, came on stage wearing mismatched sweaters and skirts and no stockings, and later appeared in smart office ensembles. Mrs. Grace Cox changed from drab matronly styles to a trim and colorful shopping outfit.

Louise Warren, appearing first as a teen-ager with flyaway coat, kerchief, shoes with run-down heels, and ambling walk, reappeared in a blazer and skirt just right for school days.

A member of the audience who volunteered to take part was given a complete new make-up job and hair-do in about 20 minutes by Miss Doris Sheridan, who began by measuring her subject's face exactly with a ruler to determine its shape.

Others from the audience came up on the stage and demonstrated sitting on a chair, going up and down stairs, taking off a coat, and posing for a picture. Then models showed the correct methods.

"Don't stoop as you sit down," Miss Sheridan said. "Keep your back up straight." To remove a coat, don't tug at the sleeves, but slip out of it, she went on, and turn your feet at a slight angle to go up and down stairs gracefully.

Items for a basic winter wardrobe were modelled by Betts Buchan, Phyllis Ross, Lilian Webster, Viola Sweeney and Joanne Bennessini.

Exercises were demonstrated by Miss Sheridan, and later the audience sang "Bluebird of Happiness" as models did "inspirational movements" interpreting the words of the song.

The Sheridans were assisted by Don Partridge at the piano, and Brian Little as a very capable page boy.

Institute Bazaar

Mrs. E. Mossopp, president of Colwood Women's Institute, officiated at opening of the annual bazaar, sponsored by Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute. She was presented with a corsage by Mrs. A. Mills.

Needlework, home cooking and novelties were sold and bingo played. Scouts and Guides had stalls of candy, lemonade and cookies. A sum of $125 was realized.

An entertaining program presented following the sale included numbers by Belmont High School band, piano duet, Polish dance and an Indian dance by Judy Fraser, Georgina Hiscock, Diane and Carol Phillips. Marcel Bouveur played an accordion solo.

Next meeting of Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute will be on Tuesday evening at 8, when annual reports will be heard and election of officers held. A Christmas party will follow with exchange of gifts among members.

A reception was held in the newly-opened officers' mess after the ceremony with the permission of Group Capt. M. P. Martyn, CD, commanding officer. After the reception the bride and groom traveled to Edmonton by car for a short honeymoon.

The wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom, was flanked by candles and arrangements of chrysanthemums and daisies. Pat Dugan proposed the toast to the bride.

Out-of-town wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. Caldwell of Vancouver.

For traveling on honeymoon Up-Island, Mrs. Schellenberg donned a grey wool suit with red accessories. She wore a corsage of red roses. The couple are living at 1060 Southgate Street.

Father of Bride Performs Ceremony For Betty Lyttle and Ewald Boldt

In a candlelit ceremony at Knox Presbyterian Church, Sooke, Saturday evening, a young couple were joined in matrimony by the father of the bride. They were Elizabeth (Betty) Anne Lyttle, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Robert Lyttle, The Manse, Sooke, and Ewald Boldt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Boldt, Osdorf, West Germany.

Arrangements of white chrysanthemums decorated the church and during signing of the register Mrs. J. Yost sang "I'll Walk Beside You." David Lyttle, brother of the bride, gave her in marriage.

The attractive, dark-haired bride was a picture in her bouffant gown of stiff net over satin. The fitted bodice was topped with a jacket of nylon lace, styled with wrist-length sleeves and Peter Pan collar. A finger-tip veil of illusion net misted from her poke bonnet style headdress of net. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Jack Fawcett, who wore a gown of Copenhagen blue net over taffeta with matching capelet. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and white carnations.

Jack Fawcett was best man and usher was William B. Harris.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Sooke Harbor House, where the mother of the bride, wearing a dress of mauve silk, purple hat and corsage of pink roses assisted the couple in receiving their guests. Multi-colored chrysanthemums decorated the room and a three-tier wedding cake flanked by white candles centred the bride's table. Thomas MacKenzie proposed the toast to the bride. Mrs. R. Piercy, Sooke, sang a solo while the bride changed into her traveling ensemble.

Mrs. Boldt chose a three-piece suit of delphinium blue wool for traveling. She wore navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

After their Up-Island honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Boldt will return to live at 224 St. Andrew's Street, Victoria.

Gas Lines 'Open Sesame' To Industrial Maturity

Proposed Alberta-Eastern Canada and Peace River-Vancouver gas pipelines would provide that extra push needed to put Canada's investment boom over the top in 1954. And, even more important, they'd send Canada hurtling toward new giant stature among the world's industrial colossuses.

Analyzing the outlook for Canada's 1954 Harold Morrison of The Canadian Press Toronto bureau points out "there has been some doubt whether in 1954 the investment boom could be maintained at the 1953 peak of $5,600,000,000 . . . Capital outlays in basic material industries may show a drop. Initial development phases in Quebec-Labrador iron and B.C. aluminum projects are expected to be completed next year.

"In such industries as industrial chemicals, primary iron and steel and metals processing, the emphasis is shifting from the creation of new plants to modernizing of existing facilities," Morrison reports.

"Investment seems to be turning more to housing, utilities, services and institutional construction."

Alberta's decision to send part of its huge storehouse of natural gas eastward if two competing companies can be brought together, will open markets in eastern Canada and the Minneapolis area. The Peace River-Vancouver pipeline would massively expand B.C.'s manufacturing potential and, if extended into the U.S., would be an immeasurable shot-in-the-arm to the Pacific Northwest's economy.

The eastern Canada pipeline would cost $300,000,000, the Peace River-U.S. Northwest line about $134,000,000. Each would take two years to build. Trade Minister Howe recently said he hoped construction of the line to eastern Canada can start next year. Building of the line through B.C. from Peace River could start within days after the final obstacle was hurdled—the permit covering the U.S. section required from Federal Power Commission at Washington, D.C.

Impact of these pipeline investments could be far greater on Canada's economy than is apparent from a glance. Trade Minister Howe recently epitomized the position thusly: "As electricity did in the past, so natural gas promises to usher in march to industrial maturity."

CHICAGO (AP)—A strong demand for wheat sent the bread cereal up about 2 cents on the Board of Trade today. Other grains also firmed.

Wheat was bought on a U.S. agriculture department prediction of higher prices, inauguration of the program of sell government wheat outside the International Wheat Agreement, and continued talk about moving red wheat from Chicago to other terminals.

B OF M ANNUAL

Salesmanship Is in Saddle, Bank Head Says

MONTREAL (BUP)—Keener competition and the return of the normal business hazards have led to renewed emphasis on salesmanship, efficiency and sober realism, President Gordon R. Ball of the Bank of Montreal said today.

General Manager Arthur C. Jensen reported B of M net profit was $7,042,676. Dividends at $1.40 per share (compared with $1.25 in 1952) took $5,040,000 of the profit. Bank of Montreal set new records in 1953, Mr. Jensen said. Resources today total $2,364,000,000.

"Some industries, particularly those dependent on export markets, have been encountering difficulties," President Ball told the bank's 136th annual meeting today. "Competition has been keener both in domestic and foreign trade." These developments suggest "need for a healthy awareness that boom conditions of easy selling and easy profits are subsiding."

Today's meeting elected John A. Macaulay, Winnipeg, Canadian Bar Association president, as a vice-president of Bank of Montreal. Elected to directorate were Harold S. Foley, Vancouver, president, Powell River Co.; Robert J. Dinning, Calgary, and Hugh H. Hilton, Hamilton.

'WE JUST KNOWS HE'S ALL RIGHT'

Missing Four-Year-Old Safe, Prince George Parents Feel

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ten weeks ago a friendly, blond-haired, four-year-old Prince George boy made his nightly half-block trip to meet his father coming home from work —and disappeared.

On that night, September 25, father Jack Aspinall worked an extra hour.

"When I got to the corner and Ronnie wasn't there, I figured he'd be at home, because I was late. But he wasn't," Mr. Aspinall explained here yesterday.

"We just know he's all right," said Mr. Aspinall, a long-distance truck-driver who arrived here after a trip from Prince George. He'll spend time here looking for aid in the search for the child before returning home.

Someone reported to police that he'd seen the boy with a stranger at the station. Circulars were sent to RCMP stations across the country, without success.

Man Held for Murder Of Wife, 3 Children

Fire That Burned Home, Grocery Store Thought Accident Until Bullet Holes Found

CHICAGO (UP)—The sweetheart of a young father held on suspicion of murdering his wife and three children and burning their bodies in a "perfect-crime" plot said today "he promised to marry me if it took 20 years."

Police confronted the father, Vincent Ciucci, 28, with his mistress, Miss Carol Amora, 20, late Sunday night. They kissed and she said:

"They got a lot of stuff on you."

"I know," he replied, "but I didn't do it."

Miss Amora denied any knowledge of the crime but said she lived with Ciucci for nine months, bore him a child and gave him about $1,300 of the modest $2,200 estate left by her father.

Ciucci, who was moved from county hospital to the well-guarded hospital at the Bridewell jail, told police he met Miss Amora for about 15 minutes last Tuesday in a saloon.

The fire that swept through Ciucci's home and grocery store Saturday was first believed to be only a tragic accident. The charred body of his wife, Anne, 28, and his children, Virginia, eight, Angeline, four, and Vincent, Jr., nine, were found in the ruins after Ciucci, cut and burned himself, gave the alarm.

But an autopsy by a painstaking pathologist showed each victim had been shot in the head. "This is murder," said Coroner Walter McCarron, who called an inquest for today.

Detective John Golden said the fire which almost destroyed the four bodies was apparently an attempt "to build a perfect crime" by obliterating the bullet holes.

The homicide chief said a .22 calibre rifle was found under a pile of clothes in the home.

New Roman Catholic School Opens in Trail

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—The first Roman Catholic school to be built in Trail, St. Michaels, was officially opened with an impressive ceremony Sunday afternoon.

The school, a $65,000 project and built through a great deal of volunteer labor, is situated in east Trail. Classes have been conducted since the beginning of the school year by the Sisters of St. Joseph, but Sunday marked the official opening.

OH, NO! THOSE YANKS BEAT BRITISH IN RUGBY BATTLE

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (BUP)—The Americans, by jove, did the British in Sunday on at least one field—the rugby field.

They defeated the British rugby team, 17 to 3, in a game between the U.S. naval operating base and the Royal Welch Fusiliers.

The American team was formed only recently but has a backbone of players who played football in the States. They easily picked up the British game.

The Americans also had the advantage of picking their rugby players from a big complement of military forces here while the Fusiliers number only 200.

Hid 3½ Years in Attic To Escape Draft Call

SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP)—The secret life of John Krasno, who hid in his attic for 3½ years to avoid a draft call that he wasn't eligible for anyway, was over today.

Krasno's troubled father, William, an illiterate Russian immigrant, came to police headquarters Saturday and mumbled: "I need a little help with my son, John." Police Chief Andrew Phillips said he told this story: The 35-year-old son had hidden in the attic of their home on June 25, 1950, the day the Korean war broke out.

John told his father, "No kill, no kill, no kill," and said he was afraid he would be drafted. He had not talked to his family—father, mother and an 18-year-old sister, Rose—since that day.

But it was learned that John wasn't eligible for the draft, being over-age and having an ailing leg. He had been rejected for the draft in the Second World War because of the leg.

Police went to Krasno's home and carried John out on a stretcher. They took him to a hospital for the mentally ill.

Tim Heiberg Leads RVYC Skippers in Frostbite Series

Leading Royal Victoria Yacht Club skipper after the first 12 races in the current Frostbite class series is Tim Heiberg, with 1,803 points.

He is followed by Peter Young, 1,757; Ned Ashe, 1,706; Andy Wright, 1,627, and Jack Korning, 1,321.

Racing in pouring rain and gusts up to 50 mph Saturday afternoon, Ned Ashe took first place in both races to establish himself as top skipper in dirty weather. None of the tiny craft dumped in the gale-force winds, but there were several narrow escapes.

Tim Heiberg placed second in the first race, and Peter Young was second in the second race.

Young Priests Defy Death Behind 'Bamboo Curtain'

DUBLIN, Ireland (UP)—An official of the Roman Catholic Jesuit order said today young priests have been sneaking into Red China disguised as workingmen despite the danger of death or torture if discovered.

Father T. Martin, secretary of the Irish Jesuit missions, said that thus far more than 120 Chinese priests have pierced the bamboo curtain from Hong Kong. Of these, he said, at least two have been slain and 20 imprisoned.

No-Child Pact Earns Divorce For U.K. Woman

LONDON (Reuters) — The London divorce court today granted Mrs. Dora Childs a decree because her husband refused to let her have a family.

They accepted Mrs. Childs' plea that her husband's extension of a war-time no-children agreement was cruelty.

Mrs. Childs, 37, had suffered a breakdown in health and the divorce commissioner said the husband, Herbert Childs, 38, had no excuse for not co-operating in letting her have the children she wanted.

U.S. SCHOOL SEGREGATION TEST ENDING

Hearings Before Earl Warren

WASHINGTON (BUP)—The long legal battle over racial segregation in America's public schools comes to a dramatic climax today at a Supreme Court hearing that confronts Chief Justice Earl Warren with his first great challenge as a jurist.

The long-awaited oral arguments on one of the most bitterly disputed constitutional issues in the U.S. drew an overflow crowd of attorneys, reporters and spectators to the big white marble court chamber long before the nine justices took their places at noon.

The question before the high tribunal was whether the 14th Amendment, guaranteeing "equal rights" to Negroes, forbids states to segregate Negro and white children in public schools. It was raised in five test cases brought by Negro parents against the segregated school systems of South Carolina, Virginia, Kansas, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

The court's decision, which may not come until next spring, will affect not only those areas but all of the 21 states in which an estimated 10,000,000 white and 2,500 colored children now attend separate schools.

New Yorkers See Newspapers Via TV

NEW YORK (AP)—A television newspaper, in the most literal sense possible, was offered New Yorkers from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

The day-long edition telecast by WOR-TV included headlines and photographs.

More, the pages were turned automatically and the whole operation was set to music.

In order to "go to press" via television, the station's news staff copied wire stories on an electric typewriter which automatically adjusted the columns to uniform length.

Headlines cut from paper letters were set in place above individual stories and the whole works was photographed by a process similar to making a photostat.

The result was a two and one-half inch tape similar to motion picture film. As this was wound past a projector at the station, the TV viewer saw first the headlines and then succeeding lines of each story climb up and out of view on his screen.

The "newspaper" was constantly made over to include late developments, and a spokesman figured its contents were completely changed about four times.

Son of Prominent California Lawyer Commits Suicide

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Bartley Crum Jr., the 18-year-old son of the prominent California lawyer, was found dead here Sunday.

The coroner's office said he apparently committed suicide by firing a rifle bullet into his forehead.

Young Crum was a student at Reed College here. The body was found by a schoolmate who roomed with Crum at a private home.

The coroner said he had reports that the youth had been "nervous and lonely."

(Crum, in addition to appearing on behalf of various Hollywood stars, took over ownership of the New York newspaper PM, now the New York Star; was member of the Anglo-American commission of inquiry on Palestine, 1946, and a member of the American delegation to the UN, San Francisco, 1945. He is also an author of a book and contributor of articles to various magazines.)

Free Food Stall Operator Needs Christmas Help

Plans Extra Large Parcels for Yule

Mrs. Barbara Green, whose free food stall serves the needy of the Greater Victoria area, has called for Christmas season help.

On December 19 she makes the last free food distribution of the year . . . the last until next July, in fact.

"We hope to give extra large parcels with plenty of tinned goods to tide over recipients," Mrs. Green said.

She needs cooks, wrappers, delivery volunteers and as many donors as possible.

Odeon Theatre will hold a special children's show the morning of stall-day at which the price of admittance will be a food donation for the stall. Doors open at 9.30 a.m.

The same day there is a children's party at Club Sirocco for youngsters of families eligible for assistance. Already 75 tickets have been taken, and there will be more available at 10 a.m. December 19 at the food stall in the public market building.

Canadian Girls-in-Training of the Douglas Baptist group have offered to wrap for the stall and All Saints' Church Sunday School held a white gift service Sunday.

Mrs. Green is getting cash donations for purchase of fowls but she can accept the fowls themselves, rather than money.

Ex-Wrens have promised pudding powders.

But deliveries are Mrs. Green's biggest problem. She'll need volunteers. She hopes service clubs or other groups will rally round for the occasion.

Elizabeth Bentley Unable To Recall Naming Pearson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elizabeth Bentley, admitted former Soviet spy, said Sunday she was unable to recall whether she had given Senate investigators any testimony about Canada's external affairs minister, L. B. Pearson.

Reports recently have been published in Canada that the Senate internal security subcommittee might name Pearson as one of several Canadians accused of supplying information to a Red spy ring in Washington during the Second World War.

David Croll, Liberal member of Parliament for Toronto Spadina, charged, as did the Toronto Star, that an attempt was being made to "blackmail" the Canadian government into agreeing to let the sub-committee question Igor Gouzenko, former Soviet code clerk in Ottawa.

NEVER CONTEMPLATED

Robert Morris, sub-committee counsel, retorted that the naming of Pearson had never been contemplated by the Senate probers. He declined comment, however, on published reports that the sub-committee received closed-door testimony from Miss Bentley in 1951 naming Pearson as a wartime source of information.

Miss Bentley was asked Sunday on the NBC television program "Meet the Press," if she had given such testimony about Pearson, who was minister-counsellor of the Canadian embassy here during the Second World War.

"I'm sorry," she replied. "I can't remember all the testimony I have given."

Shoulders Asks Protection, Says Life Threatened

New Devolpment In Greenlease Case

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Lieut. Louis Shoulders, the police officer who cracked the Greenlease kidnapping, and subsequently resigned, has asked for police protection because of threats against his life.

I. A. Long, president of the police board, made public Shoulders' request Sunday following a meeting of the board.

In a statement, Long said: "Louis Shoulders has requested that he be furnished protection by the police department on account of threats he has received. Chief Jeremiah O'Connell has been asked to have the inspector of police obtain from Shoulders a detailed statement on the reasons for his request.

"If the statement satisfies Chief O'Connell that this action is justified, a detail will be assigned, as would be done in the case of any citizen under similar circumstances."

Shoulders could not be reached to give further explanation for the requested police protection.

Shoulders, a 55-year-old police veteran, has been the key figure in a police board inquiry into the arrest of the kidnap-killers of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease and the recovery of about half of the $600,000 Greenlease ransom.

LOOK, MOM, I'M FLYING

13-Year-Old Lands Plane After Surprise Take-Off

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP) —A 13-year-old schoolboy without piloting experience Saturday flew a runaway plane while dozens of fear-frozen spectators and an ambulance waited below for a crash.

But Tony Hammond put the plane down with only minor damage and no injury to himself or his horrified passenger, Richard Floyd, who was on his first plane ride.

L. P. Broadfield, manager of a Rocky Mount airport, said Hammond was at the controls of the Piper Cub with his foot on the brakes while the pilot, William Gaither, was outside spinning the propeller to start the engine.

Suddenly the engine caught and the plane, apparently with the throttle stuck, raced down a runway and took to the air.

The youngster circled the airport for 15 minutes. Then he pointed the nose down for a landing. The plane struck a landing light but settled safely on the field.

Hammond's older brother works at the airport and the two often talk flying, but the youth had had no formal flight instruction.

4 Jet Pilots Killed In Formation Crash

MARIETTA, Ga. (UP)—Georgia air national guard officials believe rain and fog blinded four young F-84 Thunderjet pilots who plunged to their deaths in a tight follow-the-leader formation.

The single-engine jets crashed into a wood-and-pasture area near Duluth, Ga., Sunday while making a routine landing approach turn. Guard officials said the turn should have been made at 11,000 feet.

Investigators at the sparsely-settled crash area said overlapping debris of the planes indicated they plunged groundward in follow the leader fashion after the lead pilot became confused.

Capt. Idon M. Hodge Jr., 30, had given no warning of the crash in a radio contact he made as flight leader moments before, military authorities said.

Adj. Gen. Ernest Vandiver said, however, a monitor at the Atlanta naval air station overheard one pilot in a radio conversation say, "It's getting rough," and another replied, "How do you think I feel?"

Moments later they zoomed into the thinly wooded pasture, exploded and distintegrated.

Wreckage was hurtled three quarters of a mile.

One plane struck a farm home and set it on fire. The family was away on an overnight visit.

The fliers, all of the Atlanta area, were experienced jet pilots. Three of the dead had comprised a stunt team which specialized in close formation flying.

They were identified as Lt. Elwood C. Kent, 28; Lt. Samuel P. Dixon and Lt. William A. Tennent, 25. Hodge and Kent were Second World War veterans and Hodge and Dixon were Georgia Tech students.

HERBERT KENT

Herbert Kent Leaves Choir

The "grand old man" of Victoria music, Herbert Kent, 92, will sing no more for the Arion Club. After 60 years with the club he has retired.

At a recent farewell party, Mr. Kent said he was getting along in years, and that he preferred to retire before he "got too old."

His last act as an active club member was last week when he conducted the choir in "The Prayer of Thanksgiving" at a Centennial Church concert.

At the farewell party he was presented with an illuminated address, tracing his activities in the club since the day it was formed. The presentation was made by club president Lionel K. O'Neill.

Aussie Oil Strike Brings Frenzied Buying

Lots Drawn In Settlement

SYDNEY, Australia (UP)—Frenzied buying of Ampol petroleum shares created scenes today that never before had been witnessed in the 21-year-old history of the Sydney Stock Exchange.

For hours operators made bids, wrangled and argued. The bidding became so confused that chairman W. K. Garnsy had to draw lots on several occasions to decide buyers.

The scramble for oil shares, caused by reports of a big "strike" in western Australia, showed signs of spreading. Other sections of the market had good rises.

When the first call on Ampol, which holds 70 per cent of Australian interest in oil explorations, was made, the roar of voices could be heard outside the exchange.

The stocks opened at 50 shillings ($7), 15 shillings ($2.10) above Friday's closing, and jumped to 55 shillings ($7.70) before the wave of selling hit the market.

At the close of morning call, more than 28,000 shares stock had been sold, forcing the price down.

Totem Company Makes TV Film of 'Present Laughter'

Seven Totem Theatre members made a rush trip to Vancouver Sunday to take part in a TV production of "Present Laughter," a play Totem presented to Victoria audiences a short time ago.

It was the first time any of the group had played on TV, although all have had extensive experience beforehand in CBC radio plays.

The TV film is being made by a U.S. concern for viewing in the States.

Those who participated in the show were co-producers Thor Arngrim and Stuart Baker, Muriel Ontkean, David Jones, Chuck Allen, Rhoda Tinsley and Sam Payne.

NOTE: Owing to the Victoria Symphony Concert occupying the theatre today, "Latin Lovers" will start again Tuesday.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

"I am in a very difficult position," writes my old friend Charlie Michaels, whose manifold bridge activities include packed bridge courses at Queens College, the running of a bridge club, and a light-hearted approach to players and their problems. "A young man and a young lady who play at my club came to me recently with the accompanying hand for advice and consolation.

"The man opened the deuce of hearts, and the girl, who held the East cards, won with the ace of hearts. She shifted to the king of clubs, and West signaled enthusiastically with the eight. The girl next cashed the queen of clubs, and her partner completed his signal by playing the three of clubs.

"As the young man pointed out, the contract could now be beaten if the girl led another club. He would ruff with the ten of spades, thus overruffing the dummy.

"I shook my head sympathetically as he made this correct observation. As you know, I've put out a little humorous rate card, showing various prices for listening to all kinds of bridge discussions, and a sympathetic shake of the head entitles me to an extra fee. So I shook my head and even threw in a little grunt by way of an extra.

"Much to his sorrow, however, the young lady failed to lead another club. She tried to cash the ace of diamonds first. South ruffed, drew two rounds of trumps, and then ruffed two clubs safely in the dummy to bring home his contract.

"I looked at the young lady sternly, but she didn't seem a bit abashed. Instead she said 'This hand convinced us that my bridge needed careful attention, so we got married last week.' And then I remembered that I hadn't seen them for a week or two.

"So now I have a real problem. My little rate card states that I will not listen to arguments between husband and wife at any price. But these two young people trapped me into breaking my rule. What should I do?"

The moral of this story is that the defender's first duty is to defeat the contract. It's not every partner who will marry a player who fails in this duty.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

By BILL PARKER

"For a treat instead of a treatment . . ." ran the advertisment. But we'll just stick to the treat selection.

There is a treat for radio listeners on "Cafe Continental" tonight in the guise of lovely Rita George, pinch-hitting in the absence of "Cafe" regular, Tott Moons.

Miss George, a well-known European singer who now resides in Vancouver, has been engaged for the next few weeks and will present some of the "Continental's" songs in the familiar "musette" style that has made the program so popular.

For a thumbnail sketch of Rita, may we say that she has appeared in many European capitals, performing in musical comedy, night clubs and revues.

One of the high spots of her career was a part in the "Merry Widow," by Franz Lehar, with world-famous Richard Tauber.

George Calangis, the "Cafe's" talented orchestra leader, will be in his usual spot tonight . . . please don't miss this . . . it will be well worth hearing and definitely easy on the ear.

Highly intrigued on Saturday by a little note that arrived from one of the American publishing houses!

Subject of said note was a new book, soon to be released, called "Your Slip Is Showing."

The author, Kermit Schafer, has compiled material covering all the better-known "bloopers" made by radio and TV men over the last 25 years.

The book has been described quite aptly as "a catalogue of unintended indescretions before camera and microphone to lift the spirits again and put a smile upon the greyest hour."

Sounds good, so watch for it in the near future and let me know if you find a copy before I do!

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1953

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Looking at just where you are going materially gives you the chance to impress one in power with your most resourceful, ingenious qualities. Get all bills at least partly paid.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Many new standpoints, unthought of before, seep through your mind to bring more happiness, security in spiritual, mental, emotional, financial outlets. Show others your appreciation of their kindness.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Be sure to get at those long standing chores that have been put off from lack of time, carelessness. Clear decks for action so you free valuable time for future potent concerns.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Getting off alone with fixed, determined associate who requires tactful handling before you can get him to see the light of rightness is best achieved by entertaining at charming place.

LEO (July 22 to August 21)—Old condition at home, requiring great patience, foresight can now be worked out, but you must stop roaring like a lion and show gentle, kindly qualities. Be magnanimous.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22) — Using past knowledge, experience to establish better spirit of understanding with close companions, relatives, neighbors can best be stated at some congenial resort dining or dancing. Keep smiling!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Collecting old debts, setting any obligations due to any member of your family or person connected with your dwelling or property makes you feel free of long-time irritation. Be precise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Keeping your feet firmly planted on the ground, taking no chances where alienating any colleague is concerned, brings out the best support of those to whom you look for backing principles.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Stop avoiding that responsibility you must attend to some time. You have a good chance to settle an old score at less cost than you had thought necessary, but you must be co-operative.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Long time friend who is very serious and who sometimes gets on your nerves with a gloomy attitude, is the right person to consult about your health. Your sociability pays dividends.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Use the utmost care where law or any authorities, rules and regulations pertaining to you are concerned. Quiet, meticulous attention to your secret worries frees mind for important job.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Being very basic, down to brass tacks with serious-minded friends opens up undreamed-of horizons by which you can attain cherished ambitions. Show appreciation.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY . . .

Tuesday's child is one of those odd individuals who appears very solemn and sombre in early years but who will develop into a very pixyish and unpredictable sort of person as time passes. It is therefore necessary that you early offer a fine education and train for any possible career that may open, for all knowledge acquired in tender years will be utilized to the advantage of everyone concerned as the years roll by. Fine chart for government work, research, exploration, laboratory, inventions whether boy or girl!

LOW-PRICED INVESTMENT
We are offering one of the very best investment buys for the year 1953, well below market price. It includes a modern stucco store block of three busy small stores each with its own washroom, heating, etc., plus an extra adjoining lot that will be made commercial in the next few months as it is approved. This lot runs parallel with the store block so block can be enlarged later, which is badly needed as this is a busy spot. Location is in the city right on a bus stop and in a well populated area. Revenue at present is approx. 12% net which does not include future revenue from additional lot. Price also includes some excellent equipment such as deep freeze, National cash register, furnishings, awnings, etc. This is a very well built property, also attractive and a grand investment.

ONLY NAVY OBSERVES 12TH ANNIVERSARY OF PEARL HARBOR

PEARL HARBOR, T.H. (BUP)—It was business as usual at Pearl Harbor today, except for the navy, the only organization to observe the 12th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor that plunged the United States into the Second World War.

The navy planned to hold brief, solemn memorial services on the superstructure of the battleship Arizona, which Japanese bombers destroyed 12 years ago today.

The Arizona, still on the bottom of the harbor, is the tomb for some 1,100 sailors who went down with her in the first battle of the Pacific war.

Empress of Canada Loss by Fire Probe Under Way

LIVERPOOL, England (AP)—A formal inquiry into the loss of the Canadian Pacific steamship Empress of Canada last Jan. 25 opened today with testimony that two crew members who discovered a fire on board failed to close the fireproof doors.

The 20,000-ton liner capsized in dock here after being swept by fire. J. B. Hewson, representing the British transport ministry, said the fire was discovered on B deck almost simultaneously by two crew members. He said both men passed fireproof doors but did not close them. Closing of these doors, he said, "could well have helped to contain the fire working in an aft direction and have prevented, or, at any rate, greatly modified, the spreading smoke."

Egypt Will Not Attack Israel . . . for a Price

CAIRO (Reuters)—Egypt has offered Britain and the United States a guarantee that she will not attack Israel, providing two conditions are met.

These are:

1. The U.S. must undertake to equip the Egyptian Army and abandon its policy on Israel.

2. Israel must respect the truce lines and implement the UN resolution for repatriating and compensating Arab refugees of the Palestine war.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—Matt Korsko is sorry he made friends with a man in a beer parlor Saturday. The stranger robbed him of $650 worth of clothing, carried in two suit cases. Sunday morning he cruised the district in a car and captured a 27-year-old transient who was wearing his suit and topcoat.

REINDEERS ARE RESTING

St. Nick Fills Shoes Of Little Hollanders

St. Nicholas visited the Dutch families in Victoria over the week-end.

He came Saturday, on a horse, to fill the wooden shoes of Dutch children left in front of the fireplace for the Hollander's Christmas.

Children fill their shoes with straw and a crust of bread. The straw is for the horse and the bread for St. Nicholas. Because he had so many children to visit he arrived at many homes late at night, so presents were found Sunday morning.

According to Dutch custom, St. Nicholas, assisted by two black helpers, visits only the boys and girls who have been good during the year. And he remembers parents also, bringing good things to eat.

There were several St. Nicholas parties here Saturday and one of the largest was at the home of Mrs. Tom Feika, 734 Lampson Street. A score of parents attended, and 48 children.

Round-World Traveler at Coast Today

VANCOUVER (CP) — A venturesome, 23-year-old Chicago advertising artist and copywriter will come winging into Vancouver from Tokyo today on a final lap of a flight she hopes will establish a new round-the-world travel record.

Pretty Chicagoan Pam Martin left her home airport Friday to begin a series of connections with regularly scheduled airline flights which will take her around the world faster than ever before.

Her hope is to make the flight in 91 hours and 25 minutes. The current record for the 21,878-mile trip is 99 hours and 16 minutes.

Initial hop was from Chicago to New York, then on to London. From there she travels by jet airliner to Rome, Cairo, Karachi, Delhi, Calcutta, Rangoon, Bangkok, Manila, Okinawa, Tokyo and Vancouver.

She leaves Vancouver immediately for Seattle and east to Chicago.

If she succeeds, she will carry the distinction of holding the round-the-world speed record for commercial travelers.

PIANIST FOUND DEAD

LONDON (AP) — Noel Newton-Wood, Australian concert pianist, was found dead Saturday night at his home. Police said death is believed due to poisoning and there is no suspicion of foul play. The 30-year-old pianist made his London debut at 17 with the London philharmonic orchestra. He had been a pupil of the late Arthur Schnabel.

Halifax Remembers Disaster of 1917 At Defense Display

HALIFAX (CP)—Haligonians Sunday marked the anniversary of the most devastating explosion in Canadian history by attending a civil defense display.

More than 6,000 persons flocked to what once was a first aid centre to learn how future disasters like the Halifax explosion of December 6, 1917, could be handled. A total of 1,700 persons died, 6,000 were injured and 20,000 made homeless in the 1917 explosion.

If disaster strikes here again the civil defense force hopes to keep loss of life and property to a minimum. Lack of such preparedness increased the 1917 toll.

Canada's coast-to-coast civil defense convoy was here for the anniversary.

Almost 6,000 persons a day visited the "On Guard Canada" display of civil defense equipment and services. They crowded Halifax armories, the building that was crowded with explosion refugees in 1917, to see the show.

The councillors Saturday inspected the three buildings, all occupied. One is a two-room house on Dunsterville Road, occupied by a former Lime Bay squatter and old-age pensioner.

Another, at Cordova Bay, houses a family, including six children.

The third house is on Vantreight Lane.

The conucillors inspected the homes following complaints from health authorities and nearby residents.

'Unnatural' Spring Whatshan Slide Omen

Insufficient Injection of High-Pressure Concrete Contributed to Disaster—Dolmage

VANCOUVER (CP)—An "unnatural" spring from a hillside that eventually slipped and seriously damaged the Whatshan hydro-electric plant was a "sure sign" of impending trouble, an expert witness has testified at the Royal Commission hearing into the disaster.

Dr. Victor Dolmage, a consulting geologist, testified that the appearance of an active spring "in a most unusual place" was a warning of the impending slides last August 11 and 16 that dumped 115,000 cubic yards of mud on the power site, causing damages estimated at $775,000.

His testimony agreed with a report from an engineering witness, H. J. H. Ings, of the H. G. Acres Co, Ltd. of Niagara Falls, Ont. The report, read Thursday, said gaps behind the concrete lining of the plant's water tunnel may have helped cause tunnel cracks that led to the seepage which undermined the hillside.

Dr. Dolmage agreed, saying insufficient "grouting" (injection of high-pressure concrete into cracks as a support) during construction was an important factor in the disaster.

The hearing was adjourned until Tuesday when the three B.C. Power Commission members will be called to testify.

JOHN HARRIS, 89, DEAD

He Built and Rebuilt B.C. Town of Sandon

SANDON, B.C. (CP)—A Virginian who twice built this Slocan valley town and twice watched it die, died himself Sunday in a hospital at nearby New Denver, B.C.

He was John Morgan Harris, 89, who lived here 61 years. His widow will take his body back to Marshall, Va., where he was born.

Only 100 persons live in Sandon now. But that's still more than there were in 1892 when Mr. Harris moved here from Idaho on the heels of rich silver and lead discoveries along the Slocan.

He founded the town the same year. Soon, Sandon had 24 hotels and 23 saloons. Three railways, the Great Northern, Canadian Pacific and Spokane Falls and Northern, built lines into the town for the ore.

Mr. Harris and the late Fred T. Kelley, his partner, organized the Reco Mining and Milling Co., and between 1894 and 1897, nearly 1,700 tons of ore was rawhided down Reco mountain to be shipped to smelters. Total yield of the Reco vein was $900,000.

DESTROYED BY FIRE

In 1900, the town was wiped out by fire, Mr. Harris rebuilt it on its original site some 40 miles northeast of Nelson, B.C. But Sandon never quite recovered and declining silver prices saw the population dwindle to 40 just before the Second World War.

Then, the town Mr. Harris and silver had built came back and more than 1,000 Japanese, relocated from coastal areas, were moved here. Also, silver and lead prices appeared heading for another climb and the population climbed with it—back up to 300.

However, after the war the silver and lead prospects again skidded and with it the population.

Malahat's First Snow Glistens in Dawn, Thaws in Sun

Malahat's first snow of season overnight made road surface treacherous, did not stay long enough to brighten logged-over ground north of Shawnigan cut-off. Public works crews had road sanded in short order. December last year was free of snow in Victoria, but 3.8 inches fell in January and February this year. None stayed long enough to be beautiful or useful. (Photo by Halkett.)

Eisenhower to Bare Atom Plan to U.N.

Speaks to Assembly At 1 p.m. Tomorrow

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP)—President Eisenhower flies to New York Tuesday to deliver a new Western challenge to Russia to join in working out a plan of disarmament and atomic control.

With the backing of Prime Minister Churchill and the French leaders here for the Big Three conference, Eisenhower, in a major address to the United Nations General Assembly, is expected to suggest a fresh approach to the international atomic problem which has been caught in a Soviet-Western deadlock for seven years.

The announced subject for the speech, to be made at 4 p.m. EST, (1 p.m. PST) is "perils that confront the world in this atomic age."

(The address will be carried on the CBC's Trans-Canada network from 1 p.m. to 1.45 p.m. Tuesday.)

The announcement Sunday night that Eisenhower would address the UN caused a sensation dominating the closing rounds of its meetings here with Churchill and French premier Joseph Laniel.

The development overshadowed the shift of the talks today to Far Eastern problems, including France's war in Indo-China and negotiations for a Korean peace conference, and continuing British-U.S. efforts to press the French for early approval of the rearmament of West Germany.

COMMUNIQUE EXPECTED

The Big Three talks were due to close today with a communique summing up their work.

Eisenhower will leave Tuesday, flying directly to New York's Idlewild airport. The ailing Laniel, still confined to bed with a lung infection, also will fly home Tuesday if he is able.

Churchill, the conference host, will leave for London late Wednesday.

Eisenhower and Churchill, along with U.S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault, at their sessions Sunday drafted a note to Russia, believed to contain acceptance of a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting in Berlin, possibly in early January.

The draft was sent to Bonn where West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer approved it today.

IRON-CLAD KOREA PEACE SOUGHT BY BIG THREE

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (UP)—President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and the Big Three foreign ministers discussed means of getting an iron-clad Korean peace today.

Details of discussions at the two-hour and 20-minute meeting were withheld, but it was indicated that the Allied delegates sought to forestall any Communist trickery at the planned Korean peace conference on which negotiations are being conducted at Panmunjom.

Means of ending the eight-year war in Indo-China, and Far Eastern problems generally, also were discussed.

LANIEL BETTER

56-Mile Wind Wrecks Duncan Power Lines

City Drenched by Rain, Gales; Malahat Has First Snowfall

A storm that drenched Victoria Saturday and Sunday with rain driven by 56-mile winds, reserved its main strength to give electrical power and telephone lines at Duncan their worst beating in years. And the Malahat had its first snow of the season.

A portion of the storm was funneled down the Cowichan River valley, where it uprooted trees that ripped and tangled transmission and telephone wires as they crashed.

Long-distance telephone service between Victoria and the north end of Vancouver Island went out at 12.25 p.m. Saturday, and only limited service had been restored today.

Main sources of trouble were breaks caused when gale force winds fell on wires on the Trans-Canada Highway, two miles south of Duncan. A falling tree on Lakes Road disrupted service to Maple Bay.

STREWN ACROSS ROADWAY

An old seed packing house owned by Major A. B. Mathews, at Westholme, was flattened completely by the gale-force wind and was strewn across the adjacent roadway.

Mill Bay and Shawnigan Lake areas were without power for four-and-one-half hours Saturday when a huge cedar crashed across a 60,000-volt electrical power line on the Malahat.

Local services were badly disrupted in Duncan Saturday and Sunday, and some homes were without telephone connections for 48 hours. F. A. Kinch, B.C. Telephone Co. manager, described the damage as "the worst in years."

The spearhead of the storm carried on southeastward to rip down transmission lines at the

Judge Lord Will Probe IWA Strike

The provincial government today appointed County Court Judge Arthur E. Lord, Vancouver, as a one-man "industrial inquiry commission" to inquire into the northern and southern interior lumbermen's strike.

The move came after four conferences between government, labor and management representatives failed to make any headway towards a settlement of the 6,000-man strike.

IWA members in the northern interior have been on strike 10 weeks, and in the south have been out about four weeks. Negotiations between the IWA and the Northern and Southern Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Associations are deadlocked.

Judge Lord will have power to inquire into all matters pertaining to the strike and make recommendations for its settlement to the government.

Gouzenko Quiz Arrangements May Be Under Way

OTTAWA (BUP) — It appeared possible today that if Igor Gouzenko agrees to be interviewed by American spy hunters his decision will not be announced until the quiz is completed.

There was no official word on Gouzenko's answer to the latest American request to talk to him. Justice Minister Stuart Garrson said he had no comment to make on the matter.

It seemed possible that if Gouzenko had agreed to be interviewed, government officials already were making the arrangements and were planning to disclose them until it was all over.

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—David Ben-Gurion, the "grand old man" of Israel, resigned as prime minister today to become a shepherd in the Negev hills.

Bennett Plans New York Visit

Premier Will Attempt to Interest U.S. Financiers in Development of Province

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, Finance Minister Einar Gunderson and Attorney-General Robert Bonner will go to New York next week to discuss investment of new capital in B.C. with U.S. financiers and industrialists.

The province's "big three" will visit the American city after meeting Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and the federal cabinet at Ottawa Dec. 14. They leave Victoria Tuesday.

"We will try to encourage further investment in our great province during our New York talks," said Premier Bennett.

He didn't say with whom the discussions will be held.

The premier described the Ottawa visit as "good-will trip aimed at bringing about closer relationship between the two governments."

Carl Goldenberg, QC, B.C.'s special economic counsel, will joint the delegation in the east.

Premier Bennett will present a prepared submission to the federal cabinet. It will be released in Victoria after presentation in Ottawa.

The premier declined to reveal contents of the submission.

But certain parts of it are already well-known because they have been discussed publicly at various times over the past 18 months.

Briefly, the government wants Ottawa to spend more money in B.C. in what has been termed by the premier a "public investment policy."

He wants Ottawa to share in the cost of major developments which will contribute to the economy of the province and the coffers of the federal government by increased tax returns.

TO TALK PGE

B.C. wants the senior government to share in the cost of extending the government-owned PGE into the rich Peace River country from Prince George, and completion of the line from Squamish to Vancouver.

B.C. will ask the federal government to pay 50% of the cost of building B.C.'s major highways.

These include the southern and northern trans-provincial highways, the Cariboo highway, the Okanagan highway and the Vancouver Island highway.

Premier Bennett has often stressed the importance of improved highway connections between B.C. and Alberta.

The premier also will ask the federal government for establishment of a B.C. coast guard, extension of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act and financial aid in forest protection.

Attorney-General Bonner will confer with Justice Minister Stuart Garson on Doukhobor problems. He has contended in the past Ottawa must take some responsibility for the problem. B.C. wants the senior government to assume part of the cost of taking care of the sect.

Sask. Man Confesses Killing Tot

RADVILLE, Sask. (BUP) — Gerrard Joseph Cossette, 27, today surrendered himself to the RCMP here and confessed to the slaying of a six-year-old girl at Ogema, Sask.

Police said Cossette walked into the RCMP office and told the constable on duty that he "didn't know what came over him" to commit the crime.

Irene Mooney was killed late Saturday night and since then police conducted one of the biggest manhunts in Saskatchewan history.

The girl was followed into an Ogema restaurant, where she bought some ice cream. The man then followed her out and her battered body was found two hours later in a dark alley. She had been criminally assaulted and then strangled, according to police.

Cossette, who works with the Saskatchewan Power Corporation here, has his home at Coderre, southwest of Moose Jaw, Sask. Police said he would probably be arraigned on a murder charge either here or at Ogema, and remained in custody.

The victim's body was taken to Regina Sunday for an autopsy. Pathologist Dr. W. S. Alexander said death was caused by strangulation and the child was criminally assaulted.

Irene was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Mooney of the Edgeworth District, 15 miles north of Ogema, but was visiting her grandparents when she was murdered. (See earlier story, page 5.)

Announcement On Gunderson Forthcoming

By GORDON FORBES
Times Legislative Reporter

The status of Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, defeated in the Victoria by-election, may be clarified in the next 24 hours.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, asked today if Mr. Gunderson will go to Ottawa with him as finance minister, replied:

"There may be an announcement regarding Mr. Gunderson before we leave Tuesday afternoon."

"Might he resign?" the premier was asked.

Premier Bennett declined to elaborate.

The Cabinet met this morning but no announcement regarding Mr. Gunderson had been made up to press time.

Speculation is that Mr. Gunderson will either:

Resign as finance minister and go to Ottawa Tuesday as a special economic advisor to the government, or remain in the finance portfolio and contest a by-election in the near future.

The Peace River riding has been mentioned as the seat most likely to be contested by Mr. Gunderson.

Mr. Gunderson's political future has been clouded since he was defeated by Liberal George F. Gregory in the Victoria by-election.

But his recent appointment to the newly-created toll bridge authority lent weight to the argument Mr. Gunderson intends to stay in politics.

$22,000 Loot In B.C. Credit Union Robbery

VANCOUVER (CP) — Safecrackers escaped with more than $22,000 when they burned their way into a vault at the office of the B.C. Credit Union League here.

A Credit Union spokesman said the loot included at least $13,738 belonging to five credit unions, and at least another $8,000 held for safekeeping during the week-end. A seventh union made a deposit with the central organization but there was no immediate estimate of the amount.

German Reds Warn France Against EDC

BERLIN (UP)—The Red East German parliament today warned the undecided French National Assembly, in a direct message, that ratification of the controversial European army plan might lead to an attack on France by a rearmed West Germany.

This bold Communist attempt to frighten France into rejecting the European Army Plan was made as reports from intelligence sources inside the Soviet zone told of a sweeping reorganization of the Communist East German police army into three groups.

The Communist parliament addressed its letter to Edouard Herriot, president of the French National Assembly, and forwarded it through the French high commissioner in Germany.

ADN, the Soviet operated East German news agency, said the letter, drafted on Saturday, called on French deputies to "reject the so-called European Army Treaty" and warned that West German militarists were "Vengefully" planning a new aggression against France.

Royal Couple Go to Church Aboard Gothic

ABOARD SS GOTHIC (CP) —The light-hearted ceremonies of crossing the Equator and an open-air church service were the week-end highlights as the Royal liner Gothic bore the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh toward the Fiji Islands on their round-the-world tour.

The Sunday morning church service was held under an awning on the forward games deck with the Royal party in attendance. The master of the Gothic, Capt. David Aitchison, conducted the service and Vice-Admiral E. M. C. Abel Smith, flag officer, Royal yachts, read the lesson.

KIRK DOUGLAS LEADING CONTENDER

Dempsey Takes Long Count As Estelle KOs Romance

NEW YORK (UP)—Mrs. Estelle Auguste, a wealthy widow, broke her engagement to former heavyweight boxing champion Jack Dempsey today and flew to Palm Beach, Fla., to await a rendezvous with film actor Kirk Douglas.

Mrs. Auguste admitted a quarrel over Douglas caused her to split with Dempsey, to whom she became engaged less than a week ago. She said the former boxer became indignant Sunday night when she informed him she intended to invite Douglas to their wedding, scheduled for later this month in Florida.

"He resented it very much," said the stylish blonde widow. "That's when I discovered we have a different point of view on different things."

Later Dempsey left her apartment "in a huff" and she decided to cancel the wedding plans and fly to her Florida home alone today. She said she had not told Dempsey of her decision.

Dempsey could not be reached for comment at his suite in the Hotel Mayflower.

However, after word of Mrs. Auguste's announcement was given to Max Waxman, Dempsey's business manager, Waxman said:

"The only statement we can make is this: If the lady says the wedding is off, it's off."

Mrs. Auguste, widow of a banker who died four years ago and was reported to have left her with a $35,000,000 fortune, said she felt her marriage to Dempsey would not be "harmonious."

France to Make NATO Proposals

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP)—French informants said today Foreign Minister Georges Bidault served notice on President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill that France soon will put up new proposals designed to strengthen the Atlantic pact and re-define its links with the European Defense Community project.

Would Search for Missing PWs

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The General Assembly asked the Soviet Union and Red China today to open their doors to a special commission searching for hundreds of thousands of prisoners from the Second World War.

Vancouver Starts TV Test Pattern

IKE TO DISCLOSE NEW ATOMIC PLAN

Will Address Assembly Tuesday Challenging Russia to Join In

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP)—President Eisenhower flies to New York Tuesday to deliver a new Western challenge to Russia to join in working out a plan of disarmament and atomic control.

With the backing of Prime Minister Churchill and the French leaders here for the Big Three conference, Eisenhower, in a major address to the United Nations General Assembly, is expected to suggest a fresh approach to the international atomic problem which has been caught in a Soviet-Western deadlock for seven years.

The announced subject for the speech, to be made at 4 p.m. EST, (1 p.m. PST) is "perils that confront the world in this atomic age."

(The address will be carried on the CBC's Trans-Canada network from 1 p.m. to 1.45 p.m. Tuesday.)

The announcement Sunday night that Eisenhower would address the UN caused a sensation dominating the closing rounds of the meetings here with Churchill and French premier Joseph Laniel.

The development overshadowed the shift of the talks today to Far Eastern problems, including France's war in Indo-China and negotiations for a Korean peace conference, and continuing British-U.S. efforts to press the French for early approval of the rearmament of West Germany.

COMMUNIQUE EXPECTED

The Big Three talks were due to close today with a communique summing up their work.

Eisenhower will leave Tuesday, flying directly to New York's Idlewild airport. The ailing Laniel, still confined to bed with a lung infection, also will fly home Tuesday if he is able.

Churchill, the conference host, will leave for London late Wednesday.

Eisenhower and Churchill, along with U.S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault, at their sessions Sunday drafted a note to Russia, believed to contain acceptance of a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting in Berlin, possibly in early January.

The draft was sent to Bonn where West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer approved it today.

56-Mile Wind Lashes City; Malahat Snowy

A storm that drenched Victoria Saturday and Sunday with rain driven by 56-mile winds, reserved its main strength to give electrical power and telephone lines at Duncan their worst beating in years. And the Malahat had its first snow of the season.

A portion of the storm was funneled down the Cowichan River valley, where it uprooted trees that ripped and tangled transmission and telephone wires as they crashed.

Long-distance telephone service between Victoria and the north end of Vancouver Island went out at 12.25 p.m. Saturday, and only limited service had been restored today.

Main sources of trouble were breaks caused when gale force winds fell on wires on the Trans-Canada Highway, two miles south of Duncan. A falling tree on Lakes Road disrupted service to Maple Bay.

STREWN ACROSS ROADWAY

An old seed packing house owned by Major A. B. Mathews, at Westholme, was flattened completely by the gale-force

Mill Bay and Shawnigan Lake areas were without power for four-and-one-half hours Saturday when a huge cedar crashed across a 60,000-volt electrical power line on the Malahat.

Local services were badly disrupted in Duncan Saturday and Sunday, and some homes were without telephone connections for 48 hours.

The spearhead of the storm carried on southeastward to rip down transmission lines at the

Malahat's First Snow Glistens at Dawn

Malahat's first snow of season overnight made road surface treacherous, did not remain long enough to brighten logged-over land north of Shawnigan cut-off. Public work crews had road sanded in short order. December last year was free of snow in Victoria but 3.8 inches fell in January and February. None stayed long enough to be beautiful. 'Didn't Know What Came Over Him,' Says Slayer

RADVILLE, Sask. (BUP)—Gerrard Joseph Cosette, 27, today surrendered himself to the RCMP here and confessed to the slaying of a six-year-old girl at Ogema, Sask.

Police said Cossette walked into the RCMP office and told the constable on duty that he "didn't know what came over him" to commit the crime.

Irene Mooney was killed late Saturday night and since then police conducted one of the biggest manhunts in Saskatchewan history.

The girl was followed into an Ogema restaurant, where she bought some ice cream. The man then followed her out and her battered body was found two hours later in a dark alley. She had been criminally assaulted and then strangled, according to police.

Cossette, who works with the Saskatchewan Power Corporation here, has his home at Coderre, southwest of Moose Jaw, Sask. Police said he would probably be arraigned on a murder charge either here or at Ogema, and remained in custody.

The victim's body was taken to Regina Sunday for an autopsy. Pathologist Dr. W. S. Alexander said death was caused by strangulation and the child was criminally assaulted.

Irene was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Mooney of the Edgeworth District, 15 miles north of Ogema, but was visiting her grandparents when she was murdered. (See earlier story, page 5.)

Gunderson Situation May Be Cleared Soon

By GORDON FORBES
Times Legislative Reporter

The status of Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, defeated in the Victoria by-election, may be clarified in the next 24 hours.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, asked today if Mr. Gunderson will go to Ottawa with him as finance minister, replied:

"There may be an announcement regarding Mr. Gunderson before we leave Tuesday afternoon."

"Might he resign?" the premier was asked.

Premier Bennett declined to elaborate.

The Cabinet met this morning but no announcement regarding Mr. Gunderson had been made up to press time.

Speculation is that Mr. Gunderson will either:

Resign as finance minister and go to Ottawa Tuesday as a special economic advisor to the government, or remain in the finance portfolio and contest a by-election in the near future.

The Peace River riding has been mentioned as the seat most likely to be contested by Mr. Gunderson.

Mr. Gunderson's political future has been clouded since he was defeated by Liberal George F. Gregory in the Victoria by-election.

But his recent appointment to the newly-created toll bridge authority lent weight to the argument Mr. Gunderson intends to stay in politics.

Bennett Plans Visit To New York Bankers

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, Finance Minister Einar Gunderson and Attorney-General Robert Bonner will go to New York next week to discuss investment of new capital in B.C. with U.S. financiers and industrialists.

The province's "big three" will visit the American city after meeting Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and the federal cabinet at Ottawa Dec. 14. They leave Victoria Tuesday.

"We will try to encourage further investment in our great province during our New York talks," said Premier Bennett.

He didn't say with whom the discussions will be held.

The premier described the Ottawa visit as "good-will trip aimed at bringing about closer relationship between the two governments."

Carl Goldenberg, QC, B.C.'s special economic counsel, will joint the delegation in the east.

Premier Bennett will present a prepared submission to the federal cabinet. It will be released in Victoria after presentation in Ottawa.

The premier declined to reveal contents of the submission.

But certain parts of it are already well-known because they have been discussed publicly at various times over the past 18 months.

Briefly, the government wants Ottawa to spend more money in B.C. in what has been termed by the premier a "public investment policy."

He wants Ottawa to share in the cost of major developments which will contribute to the economy of the province and the coffers of the federal government by increased tax returns.

B.C. wants the senior government to share in the cost of extending the government-owned PGE into the rich Peace River country from Prince George, and completion of the line from Squamish to Vancouver.

B.C. will ask the federal government to pay 50% of the cost of building B.C.'s major highways.

These include the southern and northern trans-provincial highways, the Cariboo highway, the Okanagan highway and the Vancouver Island highway.

Premier Bennett has often stressed the importance of improved highway connections between B.C. and Alberta.

The premier also will ask the federal government for establishment of a B.C. coast guard, extension of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act and financial aid in forest protection.

Attorney-General Bonner will confer with Justice Minister Stuart Garson on Doukhobor problems. He has contended in the past Ottawa must take some responsibility for the problem. B.C. wants the senior government to assume part of the cost of taking care of the sect.

$22,000 Loot In B.C. Credit Union Robbery

VANCOUVER (CP) — Safecrackers escaped with more than $22,000 when they burned their way into a vault at the office of the B.C. Credit Union League here.

A Credit Union spokesman said the loot included at least $13,738 belonging to five credit unions, and at least another $8,000 held for safekeeping during the week-end. A seventh union made a deposit with the central organization but there was no immediate estimate of the amount.

Six Missing in Plane

HALIFAX, N.S. (BUP)—A civilian Anson aircraft carrying six men was reported missing today while on a flight from Ross Bay, Labrador, to Seven Islands, Que. The names of those aboard were not disclosed. Weather conditions prevented the immediate start of a search.

The aircraft was owned by the Quebec North Shore & Labrador Railway Co., and was under charter to the McNamara Construction Co.

Gouzenko, Quiz Arrangements May Be Under Way

OTTAWA (BUP) — It appeared possible today that if Igor Gouzenko agrees to be interviewed by American spy hunters his decision will not be announced until the quiz is completed.

There was no official word on Gouzenko's answer to the latest American request to talk to him. Justice Minister Stuart Garrson said he had no comment to make on the matter.

It seemed possible that if Gouzenko had agreed to be interviewed, government officials already were making the arrangements and were not planning to disclose them until it was all over.
